SUIT BROUGHT TO SECURE BUILDING.

Equitable Improvement Co. Say Occupants Will Not Give Possession.

WAS BOUGHT AT SHERIFF'S SALE

S. H. and L. A. Howard and H. A. Crow Are Made Defendants and Rule Is Issued to Show Cause Why They Should Not Vacate Premises.

UNIONTOWN, July 10.—The Equitable Improvement Company of Connellsville, of which George W. Barricklow is treasurer, presented a petition to court this morning to secure a rule on S. H. Howard, H. A. Crow and L. A. Howard to show cause why they should not give up possession of the Howard-Crow building in Connellsville to the plaintiff company.

The property, a three-story building on Main street, Connellsville, was owned by George Barricklow and sold on December 3, 1903, to S. H. Howard, H. A. Crow and L. A. Howard. On June 3, last, it was sold by the Sheriff to the Equitable Improvement Company of Connellsville and a deed made for same. In spite of this, the petitioners say, S. H. Howard and L. A. Howard refuse to surrender possession. A rule was issued upon them by Judge Umbel to show cause why they should not give up the property to the purchasers.

This was the only business in court this morning. There was to have been a hearing in the equity suit of J. S. Griffiths against the Monongahela railroad, but this was continued.

J. C. Majerchak, a former Brownsville banker, was released from jail this morning after serving 104 days in the county jail. He was convicted of embezzlement and sentenced on October 13, to a year in jail. Good behavior caused his term to be reduced to a considerable degree.

BURGESS EVANS HAS FINE COLLECTION

Of Offenders Against the Statutes Before Him This Morning in Police Court.

A varied collection of offenders against the borough statutes appeared before Burgess Evans in police court this morning. Andy Coback of Trotter and Florence Coleman, a Wheeler negress, were the star prisoners. The eagle eye of Officer William Stoner detected Florence and Andy together on the West Side last evening, although both denied the allegation. Andy's previous record was against him, however, so both were fined $5 and took the 72 hour alternative.

James Callahan, a Wheeler negro, was arrested as a suspicious character. He presented quite an eloquent appeal to Burgess Evans attempting to show that he was wrongfully arrested, but Officer P. M. Rulli told a different story. Burgess Evans decided to investigate the matter further before passing sentence.

C. Ferari, a Dunbar foreigner, has only been in this country about a month. He said he was lost but the officer making the arrest stated that the foreigner was intoxicated. He was initiated into the mysteries of the American police system by getting 48 hours to the bastile.

COUNTERFEITERS HELD.

They Are Alleged to Have Confessed Passing Spurious Coin.

PITTSBURG, July 10.—(Special.)—On charges of having in their possession and passing counterfeit money Fedelo Pastorelli, Eugene Mavigilio and Mario Silano, three Italians arrested yesterday, were bound over today under bail of $2,500.

It is stated that Mavigilio and Silano confessed their part in the scheme to pass the money. Mavigilio said he secured the money from two other men who approached him and persuaded him to attempt to pass $90 worth of the spurious bills.

Four Clubs Compose League Circuit Now; Hot Race is Ahead.

The Pennsylvania and West Virginia League is now a four-club circuit. That was announced late last night by President J. D. Gronninger after he had thoroughly canvassed the situation in Clarksburg and found that there was no chance for the redemption of that team.

The four clubs are Connellsville, Uniontown, Fairmont, and Grafton, and a better balanced league does not exist. All of the four remaining clubs are in good shape in every way and can be expected to finish the season.

That there will be a hot finish for the second pennant there is but little doubt. It would be a hard matter to pick the best team and none of the teams is going to have a walkaway of it.

The Cokers are scheduled to play in Clarksburg today, but as the Drummers are out of it, the boys came home. The West Virginia teams will open the new season here next week. Parkersburg, which was dropped because of the long jump and to preserve the balance of the league, will play its last game in Fairmont today. Uniontown may open the new season in Fairmont tomorrow. Uniontown is playing in Grafton this afternoon.

Manager Alex. Sweeney did not return with the team but will remain in Fairmont tonight. At that time the new schedule will be adopted. While in West Virginia Manager Sweeney will negotiate for some new players. It was not divulged just who is wanted but it is understood that Russell Morgan is one of the players the team here is anxious to land. Sweeney would like to get Willis Humphries, who was turned back to Parkersburg, but it is understood that Humphries has been sold to McKeesport by the Parkersburg team.

PAVING PROSPECT STREET.

Contractor Bernard O'Connor Is Pushing the Work There.

Contractor Bernard O'Connor has begun work on paving Prospect street and is making good time. The street is about graded now and the laying of the brick will be taken up next week.

Many repairs are being made to the streets about town. Chairman Cypher of the Street Committee, began repairing a bad place in Main street and will take up other work later.

HOT WAVE IS STILL HERE; LIKELY TO STAY

Mercury Climbed to 92 Yesterday Afternoon and Wind Did No Good.

The hot wave is still, like the poor, very much with us always these days but yesterday the mercury took a jump that surprised even the fellows who thought it was some warm. Yesterday afternoon at 2:30 the thermometer registered 94, which was just a trifle warm. The wind that blew made it feel slightly cooler, but 94 it was.

Last evening a mountain storm blew down on the town which threatened to attain the dimensions of a gale and it was believed for a time some rain might result. It all turned out to be a false alarm and the air today is dry as dust.

GIRL A CAPTIVE

Spirited Away by False Message, Escapes After Long Search for Her.

CHARLEROI, Pa., July 10.—"William Eddy wants to see you and we are to take you to him," were words used by two unknown men late last night in an effort to spirit Miss Sadie Forsythe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Forsythe, of Roscoe away from her home.

The girl, who was to have married Eddy on Saturday, accepted the statement innocently enough and went with the men without notifying her parents of the occurrence. The men did not take her to her lover, however, but into the county, where it is said they intended to hold her prisoner. The girl escaped from them at about 3 o'clock this afternoon and returned to her home. She will not talk.

Roscoe people were up in arms all day over the affair. Searching parties were out since daylight looking for the girl and the river was dragged. When she returned the search changed for the two men who had spirited her away.

Elect Teachers Today.

A meeting of the Dunbar Township School Board is being held this afternoon at the High School building at Leisenring No. 1. The principal business for transaction is the election of teachers for the remaining vacant rooms in the township.

Harvesting First Crop.

Eugene T. Norton, cashier of the First National Bank, is harvesting his first crop of hay. He has about three acres just out of town on the Mt. Pleasant road.

The Weather.

Partly cloudy tonight; Sunday slight change in temperature.

MALTA'S BIG OUTING WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 18

Annual Event Expected to Outnumber and Outclass All Former Affairs.

The Uniformed Ranks Knights of Malta are planning for their third annual outing, and already indications point to an immense gathering on Wednesday, August 18, the date of the big event. The Maltas outings have arisen to a yearly event that is looked forward to by many hundreds in this section. The first outing was held at New Castle, when 2,700 people took advantage of the opportunity afforded them. Last year the outing was held at Rock Point. Owing to the business depression it was not as large as the first year, but over 1,500 people attended it.

This year it is proposed to go to Kennywood Park. S. S. Stahl, chairman of the general committee expects this year that no less than 3,000 people will go on the trip. Exceptionally good plans have been made for the event. There will be four special trains to carry the crowds, and these will be arranged that delegations from Mt. Pleasant, Scottdale, Everson and other towns can be nicely accommodated. A special train will probably be run from Uniontown to accommodate those from the South end of the county. Everyone knows the facilities of Kennywood for entertainment, but to this will be added a number of other features, $200 having been set aside for contests of an athletic and amusing nature. The picnic will be the occasion of the assembling of lodges from all over Western Pennsylvania and upwards of 20,000 people are expected. Special low rates will be offered for the excursion trains.

STORK WINS RACE FROM GRIM REAPER.

There Were 54 New Arrivals in Registrar Brown's District During Month.

The stork ran the grim reaper off his feet in the vital statistics district covered by Registrar George B. Brown. During the month of June the score stood 54 to 16 in favor of the feathered bird who brings joy and brightness into happy homes.

The deaths of the district were very scarce, nine in Connellsville borough, five in the township and two in Bullskin. On the other hand, the birth rate was high. There were 37 new arrivals in the borough during June, seven in the township and ten in Bullskin. Connellsville township was the only division of the district where the births and deaths ran anyways close, the tally being 7 to 5. Bullskin township has not been much of a record holder in the birth end of this game of late, but did fine in the past month, having five births to every death.

BRINGS ACTION TO BUY COAL.

J. V. Thompson Plaintiff; Washington Martin's Heirs Defendants.

Attorneys Moreland, Moreland & Guy, representing J. V. Thompson, has instituted suit in Circuit Court in West Virginia against the heirs of Washington Martin. The suit is brought for the purpose of making a transfer of two-sevenths undivided interest in a tract of 12 acres of coal in Clay district. Mr. Thompson now owns five-sevenths of the tract, and is bringing suit so that the remainder, which is owned partly by infants, may be legally transferred to him.

Found With Bullet in Heart.

After searching half a night John Eddy, a prominent farmer, aged 59, was found dead with a bullet wound in his heart close to his home, near Mount Morris, Greene county. Some think he took his own life, although no reason can be found for such an act. He is survived by his wife, two sons and one daughter.

WON'T AGREE TO OLD AGREEMENT.

J. A. Dewitt Says That the Town Will Have to Build the Sewers.

FOOLED ONCE, NEVER AGAIN

Construction of a Partial System Won't Be Agreed To, As All the People In the Sewerless District Want to Have Sewers.

Jefferson A. DeWitt is authority for the statement that the South Siders will not finance the building of sewers in that section. Most emphatically he stated this morning that the old proposition would not be agreed to.

"That agreement was up to Council a year ago, after almost persistent efforts to get it there. It got so far along as the preparation of an ordinance and there it dropped. We were fooled that time, we won't be fooled again. If there is enough money to pave and pay for streets then Council will have to find money enough to lay those sewers. We citizens of that pestiferous district intend to go to the courts with our appeal. If the Council comes to court saying they are too poor to pay for our sewers we don't care, we will ask the court to put other financiers in their place, and don't you forget it. This prosecution is going to be so serious and so severe that we will get sewers.

"The proposition to lay sewers in a portion of the district, aggregating a cost of $2,000 would be a benefit to the larger district and might be satisfactory for a time, but while the work is going on there should be no reason why it could not be complete. As I understand it, it would cost but $6,000, while the street paving now in progress will certainly cost considerable more. Besides the parties who were willing to finance the first agreement would not be entirely included in this new agreement to sewer only a portion of the district.

"Taking it all into consideration it is manifestly unfair to do the street paving ahead of this improvement that has been asked for time and time again. Another feature that presents itself is the fact that we all out there pay taxes, just the same as the people living along streets that are sewered. We don't ask anything to beautify the place, we ask only something to protect our lives. There are exposed to the dangers of contagion every day the South Side schools are in session many children who attend that splendid school. It is only 300 feet away from this open ditch, into which the filth of many families drain. Mind you it is the filth from the well as well as from those who are sick, and if there is a member of the Council who can prove that some one has not always been sick in the community he should be awarded a gold medal. There is sickness there and it is continually growing."

Mr. DeWitt stated that for $2,000 sewers could be laid on a number of streets to care for the most serious situations, but all the residents are standing together and want equal fairness.

HUSBAND CAUSED DEATH OF COUPLE

Grand Rapids Coroner Says He Has Evidence of Murder and Suicide.

United Press Telegram.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 10.—Investigation by the Coroner today cleared up the mystery of finding the dead bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Rowland in their home last night. The Coroner claims to have evidence they came to their deaths after a quarrel over the wife's pending divorce suit. He claims to know that the couple lay down to sleep and the husband later, in a rage, tore off the gas fixture on the wall, and both were asphyxiated.

The woman was formerly Miss Hazel Pierre of Pittsburg.

RETAIN LOUIS EGBERT.

But A. S. Kimmel Will Retire From Farm.

A. S. Kimmel, a prominent young horseman of Vanderbilt, was in town today and says that he will have a sale of all his stock and farming implements on the James Blair farm, two miles east of Star Junction, on Thursday, July 22. Mr. Kimmel is retiring from farming but will retain his horse, Louis Egbert.

Mr. Kimmel is well known over the country and his continuing his interest in the breeding line will be welcomed by the horsemen.

Rev. High, Founder of Coke Mission, Is Now 83 Years Old.

PENNSVILLE, July 9.—Rev. John O. High, known all over the coke region, has been spending some days back among the scenes of former ministerial labors and the work where he founded the Coke missions. He visited for a few days with Tax Collector and Mrs. S. B. McMillen in Scottdale, the latter being a sister of Rev. High, and among friends here for the last few days.

Rev. High was the Methodist Episcopal Coke missionary and Sunday school organizer here in 1883, and during his labors in Pennsville organized a flourishing Sunday school and had gathered up a good congregation of members attached to the Jacobs Creek circuit. For some reason after his going away this was allowed to lapse and the charge was dropped from the circuit. He was also instrumental in organizing a Sunday school at Morgan. Rev. High is now 83 years old, hale and hearty, looks like he always did, talks with the same whimsical drawl, and eats with the same zest that he did when he was traveling over the region organizing Sunday schools and doing the hard labor of starting up new congregations. He preached for many years at Jacobs Creek, at Wesley chapel and at Alverton and other points in the conference.

He preached at the home of W. C. Lyons, an old time friend here last Sunday morning and in the evening at the Pennsville at the Pennsville United Evangelical Church. In spite of his 83 years, he does a lot more hard work yet than many another minister, great deal younger ones not excepted. He is now a resident of Pittsburg.

DATE OF WHERUM INQUEST IS FIXED

Coroner Hammers of Indiana County, Decides Upon July 15, as the Time For Hearing.

INDIANA, Pa., July 10.—Having learned that the five survivors of the Wehrum mine disaster are well on the way to recovery and will soon be able to leave the Miners' Hospital at Spangler, Coroner James S. Hammers has decided upon July 15 as the date for the inquest to ascertain the cause of the explosion. The inquisition will be held in Wehrum and the men now in the Spangler Hospital, together with the injured who remained at their homes in Wehrum will be the chief witnesses.

An inquest into a mine explosion is conducted under special laws and is much more thorough than an inquest where death was the result of shooting or other more common causes. The mine inspector for the district, who in this case is Joseph Williams of Altoona, will closely question the men who were in the mine, those responsible for its inspection and operation, and the mine experts who visited the scene after the explosion. An inspector he has instructions from State Inspector Roderick. Mr. Williams will establish beyond a doubt, if possible, the cause of the explosion and the verdict together with the expert testimony introduced will be made known through the various inspectors to superintendents of mines throughout the bituminous coal field.

In inquests into the cause of mine disasters a majority of the jurors must be experienced mine men. Coroner Hammers has already selected his jury and he will have two men from Hellwood, one from Graceton, one from Ernest and two laymen. Harry D. Dowler of Hellwood and the other mine men selected as jurors visited the scene the day following the explosion.

TARIFF BILL NOT TO BE GREATLY CHANGED

And Legislators Believe It Will Pass By a Substantial Majority.

United Press Telegram.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—With the meeting of the conference committee today the construction of the real tariff bill began. The Democratic members are barred from the sessions. Greatest importance attaches to the work of the conference committee for the reason that their report must be adopted or rejected by Congress in its entirety.

Members who oppose certain features of the bill are usually content to stand on their record made during the debate of the bill and will not vote against the entire measure as finally presented.

The men in charge of the bill are the most skilled legislative veterans and despite the substantial group of Republicans opposed to the bill the measure is expected eventually to pass much in its present form.

GRAHAM OBJECTS.

Would Not Have Thaw Discharged From Bankruptcy.

PITTSBURG, July 10.—(Special.)—Objection to the discharge of Harry K. Thaw from bankruptcy was filed today by J. C. Graham, who claims to be a creditor of Thaw. The objector raises the question of Thaw's sanity and declares the petition in bankruptcy should never have been granted if Thaw was in his right mind at the time.

Graham claims $2,934 for legal services during the first Thaw trial.

Financial Fizzle.

The Sunday School picnic was a financial fizzle and there is a deficit of $75 to be made up. Each of the five schools participating will probaly be assed $15.

SWORE FALSLEY.

Girl Charges That Man Made Her Perjure Herself.

Francesco Di Genova has been arrested charged with perjury. It is alleged that he caused Potenza Di Genova to swear falsely to her marriage certificate stating that she was 21 years old, when she was but 18. The girl alleges that she was compelled to do so, on account of Genova having a man for her to marry.

KEROSENE EXPLODES; TWO ARE BADLY HURT

There Were 135,000 Gallons on Barge When It Let Go Today.

United Press Telegram.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 10.—A hundred and thirty-five thousand gallons of kerosine, the cargo of the whaleback barge Harrison, owned by the Texas Oil Company, exploded in the harbor here today. Burning oil scattered in all directions, firing several lumber schooners and docks.

Captain Fred May and Albert de Fosso, a deckhand, were fatally burned. The other four members of the crew escaped by jumping into the river. The loss will exceed $100,000.

FRANCE IN UPROAR; RUSSIAN AN ANARCHIST

He Was Head of Secret Service Detail in Land of the Gascons, Too.

United Press Telegram.

PARIS, July 10.—Following the sensational discovery that General Landeson, Chief of the Russian Secret Service in France, is a former anarchist, the government may take a step to expel all Russian foreign secret police from France.

The French Ambassador is now preparing a note to Russia demanding an explanation of the affair and the climax of this diplomatic crisis may be the cancelling of the Czar's approaching visit to France.

SUMMER STARS.

Hercules One of the Most Prominent in the Sky.

Hercules is one of the most characteristic figures in the summer sky. Its most distinctive configuration is a quadrilateral of third-magnitude stars shaped like the keystone of an arch, which is almost exactly overhead. Venus is evening star in Cancer and Leo, setting about 8:40 P. M. in the middle of the month. On the evening of the 27th she is very near Regulus. Mars is in Pisces, and rises about 10 P. M. in the middle of the month. By its close he is within 50 million miles of the earth and very bright. Jupiter is evening star in Leo, setting about 10 P. M. toward the middle of the month.

Strike Is Quiet.

There are no new developments in the strike of the B. & O. machinists. Strikebreakers arrive and depart each day.

A Big Lineup.

There was a big lineup of boys this morning to have a free dip in the Y. M. C. A. pool.

IMPROVEMENTS TO THE CITY HALL.

Councilmen Talk of Enlarging Their Meeting Room to Meet Requirements.

TOO SMALL NOW, THEY SAY

The Changes Might Result in Shifts of the Other Offices, Too—Matter Likely to Be Taken Up in the Near Future.

In order to properly accommodate the "Skiddoo" Council it is probable that extensive alterations will be made to the City Hall in a short time. With 23 members, the present Council room is entirely too small. The present scheme is to do away with the committee room in the rear and take the railing back about 10 feet. A new entrance may be made through the room formerly used by the Connellsville Volunteer Fire Department, and a cloak room for the use of the many side issues of Council, and in which star chamber sessions can be held prior to the regular meetings. Here lately it has been necessary to hold many of these sessions to get matters lined up as in the present large body it is no sure thing of railroading matters through as in the past.

It is also understood that new chairs are to be purchased for the Councilmen and other improvements are apt to be made. The interior of the building has recently been somewhat improved by the application of some paint. Tax Collector George B. Brown may be moved into a front office as the result of the changes as a part of the room now occupied by him will be taken up by the new Council chamber.

Provisions must also be made, if the contemplated improvements are carried out, for Health Officer Allen Hyatt. His test tubes and other paraphernalia of the Board of Health must be taken care of.

The town is rapidly outgrowing the present City Hall and in time extensive improvements to the building must be made.

It is expected this matter will be taken up in the near future by P. M. Buttermore, Chairman of the Committee on Public Grounds and Buildings.

THIS BURGLAR TOOK ONLY FOOD IN HOME

There Was Money About Edward Decker's House But It Was Left Undisturbed.

The home of Edward Decker was ransacked by thieves during the night but nothing but eatables was taken. The marauder gained entrance through a window on the ground floor which had been left unlocked. When the family awoke this morning it found everything on the lower floor topsy-turvey.

Although there was some money left in places of easy access, none of it was disturbed. After helping himself to some table delicacies, the marauder left as he entered. Mr. Decker lives in Pittsburg street.

CLOUDBURST HITS SIOUX CITY HARD

Worst Flood in Its History Is the Result of Disastrous Storm.

United Press Telegram.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., July 10.—A cloudburst occurred north of the city at 10 o'clock today and caused the most disastrous flood in the history of the city. One life is known to be lost. The property loss will reach a million dollars.

Farm lands on the outskirts of the city are inundated and the situation is getting worse. Rescuing parties are being sent out to prevent further loss of life.

Inspector to Look Over "Hill" District To Provide a Means for Mail Delivery.

Congressman Cooper has heard the appeal of the residents of "The Hill" on the West Side who are without free mail delivery service, and the Postoffice Department has been directed to send an inspector here to look over the situation. The matter was referred to him on account of the Town Council taking the matter up.

Since free delivery service started in New Haven there has been constant complaint by the people living above Ninth street as the carriers do not go further. This is owing to the steep hill, which is perhaps a quarter of a mile long. Living upon the hill is a large population. The thoroughfares after getting up the hill are all right, but the hill is a stunner, and would be almost impossible to travel in winter time. The local postoffice did not extend the service to the Hill section on account of there being no paved sidewalks along the hill. The inspector will look over the situation and report.

Nobody Knows Whether John Duggan Bought the Water Works.

Did John Duggan buy the water works yesterday? That is a familiar question on the streets today, but there is no one to answer it definitely. A meeting was to have been held yesterday afternoon by the Water Committee of Council, but whether it was held or not, or where it was held is not known. Reporters searched the town yesterday afternoon to try and locate the meeting, not because they thought it was a real fresh story, but just to hear the Peerless Leader from the West Side raise the dough to get the Connellsville Water Company.

It is alleged that Duggan went into consultation at Borough Solicitor Higbee's office, but the records show that the Borough Attorney went to Pittsburg. Whether the meeting was pulled off there or what was done is a matter of guess work, but the water company was still in business in the usual way today and there is no indication of a shut down.

In Social Circles.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The Mill Run W. C. T. U. was pleasantly entertained Thursday afternoon by Miss Gertrude Hutchinson at her pretty home at Mill Run. The meeting was handsomely appointed and was in honor of Mrs. Kate Ritenour of Uniontown, county president. The various apartments were beautifully decorated for the occasion, a color scheme of red, white and blue predominating in all the appointments. Mountain laurel and ferns were lavishly used in the parlor and reception hall while large bows of white satin ribbon were also greatly in evidence.

The meeting was opened with devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. Mary E. Hutchinson, an address on "W. C. T. U. Work" by Mrs. Ritenour followed. Mrs. Ritenour's talk was an instructive one and was greatly enjoyed by the ladies. Mrs. Nellie H. Showman gave a short talk on "District Work." A reading and vocal solo by Mrs. Jennie Coffin were pleasing numbers. At the close of the program a delightful social hour was held. Refreshments were served by the hostess. About thirty guests were present.

Delightful Program Rendered.

The Mission Band of the Christian Church held a delightful social meeting yesterday afternoon in the Sunday School room of the church. The enjoyable feature of the afternoon was a musical and literary program which was delightfully rendered by members of the society.

The program was as follows: Recitation, Mildred Hopkins; piano solo, Helen Hood; recitations, Mary Porter and Gertrude Rhodes; piano duet, Irene Hopkins and Mary Frances Marsh; recitation, Eloise Cunningham; mandolin and guitar duet, Emma Katherine and Elizabeth Kurtz. A social hour and refreshments followed.

Enjoyable Meeting.

A delightful meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Baptist Church was held last evening at the home of Mrs. S. D. McGraw on Fairview avenue. The meeting was well attended and a most enjoyable evening was spent by the ladies. The regular routine business was transacted after which a social hour was held and refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held Friday evening, July 23, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. E. A. E. Palmquist.

W. O. C. Picnic.

The third annual outing of the W. O. C. Society of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school was held yesterday afternoon near Moyer. The picnickers included members of the society and a number of invited guests. A more desirable place could not have been chosen for the outing. Various games were played until 6 o'clock when a bounteous repast was served. Miss Eva Gray, teacher of the class, chaperoned the party.

Enjoyable Dance.

One of the most enjoyable social functions held at the Armory for some time was a shirtwaist dance given last evening by Company D, Tenth Regiment, N. G. P. Over 100 couple were present and danced from 8:30 o'clock until midnight. A large number of out of town guests were present. Music was furnished by Kiferle's orchestra.

Off on Extended Trip.

Henry Goldsmith and daughters, Misses Florence and Helen, and son Dr. W. N. Goldsmith left last night for an extended visit in Colorado and California. After spending several days in Chicago they will leave for Salt Lake City, to spend a few days. From there they will go to San Francisco and from there to Los Angeles, Cal. On their return they will visit in Colorado.

Attended High School Dance.

Misses Marytena Sinclair, Mary Lou and Emma Kate Dull, Katherine and Imogene Porter, Marie Benford, Irene Huston, Walter Madigan, Stewart Monroe and Herbert Thatcher were among the out-of-town guests present at the Uniontown High School dance held last evening at Shady Grove.

Birthday Social.

The ladies of St. John's Episcopal Church will hold a birthday social at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bradley on the evening of Thursday, July 15.

Entertaining Thimble Club.

Mrs. A. C. Herbert is entertaining the Baptist Ladies' Thimble Club this afternoon at her home on Third street, West Side.

Veterans Will Meet.

The monthly meeting of the William F. Kurtz Post No. 104 G. A. R., will be held Wednesday evening at the Borough building. A large attendance is desired.

Picnic Postponed.

The G. I. A. to the B. of L. E. picnic which was to have been held Wednesday afternoon, July 14, has been postponed until further notice.

Recital for Pupils.

Miss Pearl Keck will give a recital for her pupils Tuesday evening at her home on East Fairview avenue.

COKERS SHIVER IN THEIR SHOES TODAY

They Have To Face the Connellsville Printers at Park This Afternoon.

The Cokers having been up against some dubs down in West Virginia, will run against the real thing this afternoon when they will meet the Connellsville Printers. The Prints are the real cheese when it comes to ball tossers, and are ready to show the men of the tribe of Sweeney a thing or two.

The game was arranged at noon when it was found the printers would be unable to journey to Uniontown to meet The Herald team there. This game in Uniontown will be played off later.

"Bones" Mentzer, who is some twirler, will be on the mound for the Printers and says he will make the Cokers look sick. Ike Francis, Dutch Myers and others will take notice. It is hard to say what twirler will work against the Printers. The Cokers are handicapped as their star twirler, Jack Cotton, worked yesterday. Silcox is their next best man but Tom is just a trifle afraid of those Printer sluggers. As the other twirlers are trying to dodge the awful carnage, it is likely that Dutch Myers may get the job.

The game will be worth seeing. The printers this morning collected a pool of a million or two and they are going to bet on their team. Next to a game with Uniontown the contest this afternoon should be the hottest ever.

COAL MEN PERTURBED BY NEW ASSESSMENT

West Virginia Authorities Increase Valuations Upward of 100 Per Cent.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., July 9.—According to the figures of the assessors the valuations on coal in West Virginia have been increased over 115 per cent above those of 1906.

The comparison in the nine districts with the assessments of 1906 are as follows:

Battelle, west, $27 to $75; Battelle, east, $45 to $150; Cass, $90 to $200; Grant, $80 to $200; Union, $100 to $200; Morgan, $100 to $200.

On the Freeport coal the figures for the districts on the east side of the river, where the coal is mined, are: Union, $10 to $30; Morgan, $15 to 40; Clinton, $10 to $30.

The owners of coal are raising a cry over the assessments and will make an effort to have the figures reduced at least 50 per cent.

ANNIVERSARY OF MRS. HARRY DARSIE.

Pleasant Event Is Celebrated at Scottdale—Fifty Guests Surprise Her on Natal Day.

In honor of her 28th birthday anniversary, Mrs. Harry Darsie was tendered a very enjoyable surprise party last evening at her home at Scottdale. The affair was well appointed and was arranged by her husband. About fifty guests were present and spent the evening at flinch and euchre until after 11 o'clock, when an elaborate luncheon was served.

Among the out of town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. George Powell, Mrs. C. B. Lane, Miss Emma Lou Shaw, Misses Viola and Margaret Morrison, of Connellsville; Mrs. B. C. Lewis and Mrs. E. Hague, of Uniontown.

CHILDREN CELEBRATE MOTHER'S BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Abraham Sherlick of Pennsville Spends a Pleasant Day With Them.

Surrounded by her children, grandchildren and great grandchildren Mrs. Abraham H. Sherrick celebrated her 75th birthday anniversary last evening at her home at Pennsville. Mrs. Sherrick is one of the oldest and most widely known residents of Pennsville and enjoys excellent health. The gathering was cleverly arranged in every detail and was a complete surprise to Mrs. Sherrick. After recovering from her surprise Mrs. Sherrick proceeded to make her guests comfortable and perhaps none present enjoyed the evening more than she. The guests were conveyed to the Sherrick home in automobiles.

At 6 o'clock an elaborately appointed dinner was served in the large dining room which was attractively decorated in a color scheme of green and purple. In the center of the table was a huge birthday cake bearing 75 lighted candles significant of the age of Mrs. Sherrick. Seventy-five very pretty souvenir postal cards on which were written congratulations were given Mrs. Sherrick by the guests. The children present were Mrs. E. J. Enos and family, Miss Lida Sherrick of Pennsville; Bert Sherrick and family, E. A. Sherrick and family, J. D. Sherrick and family of Connellsville; Samuel Sherrick and family of Hendricks, W. Va. There were about 20 grandchildren, and three great grandchildren present.

A Prosperous Business Season.

THAT WE ARE on the threshold of an unusually prosperous business season must be evident to all intelligent observers of business conditions. It has come slowly but surely.

Business no longer seeks the business man or the business house. It is sought for by every class and condition of business enterprise, and the cheapest and best way to enlarge the custom of any house, no matter how well established, is by liberal and judicious advertising in the newspapers which reach the people. The business houses which generously and wisely advertise in widely read newspapers are always in the forefront of their class, while those who restrict or reject advertising are always behind in the race.

There is no better medium in Fayette county for legitimate business enterprise to reach the public than in the columns of The Courier. It is more widely read in the homes of progressive and thrifty people than any of our contemporaries, and considering the character and circle of its readers, it furnishes the cheapest advertising that legitimate business can obtain. It is thoroughly representative alike in its reading columns and in its advertisements and now, when profitable business is within reach of our business houses, they should promptly and generously avail themselves of the great opportunity presented.

ALLEGED LEPER ON EXHIBITION.

He Holds a Successful Reception at New York Hospital.

WASHINGTON DOCTORS WRONG

Says His New York Physician, Who Says He Has an Inflammation of the Skin Due to His Having Worked With Alkali.

New York, July 10.—John R. Early, the young southerner heralded about the country as a leper, gave a reception to prove that he is untainted. It was held at the New York Skin and Cancer hospital and was attended by medical men, a number of Early's friends and a sprinkling of the general public.

Early, who lately came from Washington, where he had been locked up for nearly a year, received his guests cordially and discussed his recent isolation.

The reception was arranged by Dr. L. Duncan Bulkley, the specialist, who brought Early here, to show that there is nothing leprous about the man. As the crowd gazed at him his skin was clear and fresh while there was nothing to indicate a trace of any skin infection.

Early related a humorous incident at the expense of the Washington authorities:

"What did you do when they had you shut up?" he was asked.

"I raised chickens," he said, "and both the chickens and their eggs were sent in to Washington and sold in the open market. They wouldn't let my wife come within ten feet of me, but they had a watchman who brought me my food. He took no special precautions about it, either; he handled the dishes with his bare hands, and he carried away the towels that I used, too."

"If Early had been a leper these eggs might have spread the disease all over Washington," added Dr. Bulkley. "If it had been infectious at all the eggs would have carried it."

What Early has, Dr. Bulkley explained, is a simple inflammation of the skin produced by the alkali used in the pulp mill where he formerly worked in North Carolina. Early will soon be free.

SPEED CRAZE GETS TWO

Automobile Racers Killed in Contest at Blue Bonnets Track.

Montreal Que., July 10. — C. K. Batcheldr of Newport, Vt., and J. Twohey of Montreal were killed at the races of the Canadian Automobile club at the Blue Bonnets track.

Batcheldr was driving a sixty-horsepower car, Twohey acting as his mechanic. Batcheldr pulled out to pass Burman. What happened then nobody knows. The car was seen to dash into the fence, fly over the embankment and come to a stop forty yards beyond.

When assistance arrived Twohey was found dead with his neck broken. Batcheldr was horribly mutilated, one fence stake having ripped open his abdomen and another knocked a great gash in his chest. He was rushed to the hospital, but died just after being admitted.

SOISSON THEATRE.

"A Romance of Tennessee."

The Carroll Comedy Company opens the summer season at the Soisson Theatre next Monday night in the Southern drama "A Romance of Tennessee." The company is a splendid one and the vaudeville acts first class in every particular. The following criticism from the Bellefonte, (Pa.) Morning Herald of January 10, 1909, designates the quality of the attraction:

"The Carroll Comedy Company, the best popular priced company that ever appeared in Bellefonte, opened last night at the Garman Opera House to an audience that filled every nook and corner of the theatre. The play "The Flower of the Ranch," made good from the start and the large audience was liberal in its applause. Standing room will be at a premium all week."

"The Flower of the Ranch' is produced Friday and Saturday.

PRINCIPALS IN SENSATIONAL SUIT IN BALTIMORE.

MR. & MRS. F. S. R. BROWN, JR.

Frank Ridgely Brown, Jr., son of the former Governor of Maryland, has been sued in the Baltimore courts for divorce by his beautiful young wife, who was Miss Mabel Michael of that city. The young couple eloped to New York and were married in 1906, since which time, Mrs. Brown asserts, her life has been a stormy one. She charges her husband with cruelty, alleging that he often subjected her to indignities in the presence of guests. The young man has figured in many sensational escapades both in Europe and America and at one time was known as "the millionaire reporter" from the fact that when he was temporarily attached to the staff of a Baltimore newspaper he went about his duties behind a spanking team and attended by a coachman and footman.

ROCKWOOD.

ROCKWOOD, July 9.—Mrs. Norman Burkholder, while driving home with her three small children yesterday, the horse became frightened at a train at Wolf's crossing. While Mrs. Burkholder and the last child were dismounting from the carriage the horse broke loose and ran into another team on the Red Bridge, breaking the carriage in pieces, and was stopped by J. E. Hauger in Black township.

THE ONLY WAY.

Many Connellsville Citizens Have Discovered It.

Just what to do when the kidneys are affected, is a question that concerns both young and old. Weak kidneys neglected in childhood lead to life-long suffering. People of advanced years, with less vitality, suffer doubly. In youth or age, languor, backache, urinary irregularity, dizziness and nervousness make life a burden.

There is one remedy that acts directly on the kidneys and cures these troubles. Doan's Kidney Pills owe their world-wide fame to the fact that they cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Follow the example of this Connellsville citizen and you will be convinced that this is so.

Mrs. H. J. Hendrix, formerly of 210 East Main street, Connellsville, Pa., says: "I am glad to say a word in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills for I consider them a remedy of great merit. My mother was cured of a chronic case of kidney trouble by Doan's Kidney Pills, and my father also used the remedy with the best of results. They have been used in our family for years and have never failed to live up to the claims made for them. I advise anyone suffering from kidney trouble to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Company, Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. 10

SATURDAY EVENING, JULY 10, 1909

THE SOUTH SIDE SEWER CONTROVERSY.

The South Side worm has not only turned but it is getting ready to bite some of the Town Councilmen who have put private interests before public duty, who have been willing to oblige friends with costly improvements but unwilling to protect the health of the whole community from the menacing consequences of unsanitary sewerage in some portions of the town.

It is impossible for every portion of the borough to have every improvement it desires every time it asks the Town Council for it. The latter has never had unlimited wealth at its command. Its problem has always been to make its resources reach around to the necessities of the town.

Some of the Councilmen did not, unfortunately work out this "sum" with any degree of accuracy; and for their failure to do so, they will probably get a legal spanking and a long vacation after next February.

SENTIMENTAL STREET NOMENCLATURE.

Latrobe seems to have under consideration the same question concerning street nomenclature that has agitated Connellsville. It says:

While the Ordinance Committee of the Borough Council is at work on the preparation of an ordinance, providing for changes in the names of streets which at present have confusing appellations, the opportunity is ripe for those residents of Depot street, who have long realized the misleading and inappropriate character of the title of their thoroughfare, to propose a change in its name, should they so desire. The change could easily be brought about while the names of other streets are being straightened out.

Quite a number of years ago, an effort was made to change the name of the street to Pennsylvania avenue, by those who deemed Depot street to be a misleading title. But the effort fell through. The latest suggestion is that the name be hanged to Lloyd avenue, thus giving the same name to the entire thoroughfare from the eastern boundary line of the borough to the western. Lloyd avenue, it is suggested by those favoring it, is a harmonious and pleasing name, while it stands for the name of a man who was connected with the early business development of the community. It's a case, however, where those along the street are the ones most concerned. It is for them to decide.

We can readily understand why Latrobe people who live on Depot street would want to change its name, and the other citizens of Latrobe seem to think that the wishes of the residents on Depot street should be respected. The new name proposed has not been suggested by sentiment, but only from a sensible desire to obtain uniformity in street names.

Connellsville has a Main street. The name is significant. It conveys the impression abroad that the street is, if not the leading thoroughfare, at least one of its principal business streets. The name is valuable to every business man on Main street. Most of them so regard it, hence their protests against any change. Their wishes should govern in the matter.

Sentiment may enter into the naming of the new streets without public harm, but it should never extend to the frequent or reckless renaming of streets, since all such changes involve confusion in the examination of titles and in many other less important but highly annoying matters.

EXPERT SHOT-FIRERS FOR WEST VIRGINIA MINES.

The West Virginia mine operators and inspectors are making an earnest effort to improve their mining practice in the direction of absolute safety. None but shot-firers of approved skill and experience will be employed for this dangerous duty.

The State mining department has made this a compulsory condition and the operators have gracefully acquiesced. The numerous recent disasters due to reckless and incompetent shot-firing have suggested this timely precaution.

With its adoption and the employment of other precautions against danger the West Virginia miners may feel reasonably safe against untimely death.

THE ISSUE NOT THE WRITER.

We fear the Uniontown papers are losing sight of the living issues of the day in their efforts to discredit each other in the public mind.

The Herald charges Lawrence L. Minor with being the political editor of The Standard. The Herald is not as familiar with the style of Editor Cooke as it might be, or it would never accuse anybody else of writing his editorial matter. Editor Cooke's style is peculiarly his own and it would be difficult for anybody to imitate it successfully. Besides, Editor Cooke is like some of the balance of us; he thinks he is competent to write his own matter, and most people are of the same opinion.

After all, in the discussion of public questions, the personality of the writer is not an issue. Now there's our old friends Veritas, Pro Bono Publico and Sic Semper McGinnis, not to mention Constant Reader and Old Subscriber, whose able efforts to save the country have been earnest and frequent, yet we have seldom heard them charged with getting somebody else to write their contributions.

We would respectfully suggest to our Uniontown contemporaries that they confine themselves to the argument and not waste their energies in personalities which are foreign to the issue and uninteresting to intelligent people.

THE NEW FISH LAW FOR UNWARY FISHERMEN.

Some people do not know how to fish at all; others can fish Izaak-Waltonly well, but in an indifferently legal manner. Some know the law and ignore it; others know it not and violate it unwittingly. The former escape and the latter are caught.

It is well to know the law, but the Legislature has a cheerful habit of changing the fish and game laws at every session, and providing no immediate means whatever of promulgating them.

A small pamphlet is gotten out by the State Printer and may be had by those who are sufficiently interested to look it up and pay for it. But this pamphlet is not ready for several months after the laws are passed; for example, the last Legislature adjourned in April, and the fish and game laws are just out this week, after a delay of three months, during which period nobody knew what the fish and game laws were.

While no newspaper should be called upon to advertise the laws of the State gratuitously, in view of the interest in this matter and the necessity of protecting our friends from wanton precautions under an unknown enactment, we publish the features of the new fish law.

They are to be found in yesterday's issue of The Courier.

The decision of the Allegheny county courts that demurrage charges must be regulated by law, and not by the rules promulgated by the railway companies, will doubtless stand the test of the higher courts if the question shall be taken there for determination. The decision is founded in common sense and seems to rest firmly upon the statute law. It will hardly be overturned by any court.

The whole civilized world is having a fly time just now.

The Fayette county courts will be called upon to determine whether the furnishing of a deadly weapon by one man to another, and the use of it by the latter for the commission of murder, does not involve the owner of the weapon as an accessory before the fact to the crime. There is certainly some measure of responsibility resting upon the man who furnishes another with the means of homicide, and if it is so adjudged there will doubtless be less eagerness on the part of gun-toters to oblige a neighbor with the loan of a shootin'-iron.

Uncle John Rockefeller has given another ten millions to education. At this rate, he may yet escape the Death of Disgrace.

The life of the coke operator is not one of gilded ease. When orders are plenty and prices good, there is either a scarcity of labor or a short car supply, and vice versa. Just now orders are plenty, but labor is scarce. Operators, however, should not despair. These conditions are transitory. They usually rectify themselves.

The juvenile members of the Connellsville Merchants' Association have about a 2½ better chance of getting there on the 22nd.

Fayette county is getting her share of Annapolis cadets, but Fayette is something of a maritime province. Through its heart runs the Dare Devil Yough, on the south is the furious and fathomless Cheat, and on the west the dammed but placid Monongahela. There's no telling when we may need some sailors here.

Mother earth does not seem to be able to shake off her attack of ague.

Hon. William H. Graham, the veteran Allegheny county Congressman, has been recommended for Pennsylvania's vacant place on the Rivers and Harbors Committee. The appointment is due to Western Pennsylvania.

There is a borough ordinance against playing ball in the streets and the movement to enforce it should not be confined to the West Side.

The report that two Americans who defended the American flag from foreign insult had been fined by a Westmoreland justice is indignantly denied by the latter, who gives the public to understand that he is an American himself. The assurance was necessary.

The Boswell miners evidently thought a job in hand was worth more than the prospect of camping in the bush.

The old firm of "The Devil & Tom Walker" seems to have reopened shop and resumed business in Fayette county.

The Pittsburg Dispatch sees a coming political upheaval in Pennsylvania. It's a habit The Dispatch has. The people will probably refuse to get excited during this enervating weather. It's too hot to talk politics, and nobody but a chronic and peppery insurgent would think of it.

The learned professor who said that women in the matter of dress were and who became savage when he had savages evidently never saw the hub to pay the bills.

Even the old Ohio is reported to be merely a creek. All things considered, the Yough holds out well. We notice that it helps Uniontown with water every summer.

The West Side is entitled to free delivery throughout its entire territory. Congressman Cooper is lending a hand to get it. He does not believe in discriminating delivery.

An Indiana woman wants a national celebration of the National Pike. We think we hear the Uniontown press say: "By all means, let us have a celebration; and let it be held in Brownsville!"

Some Interesting Sidelights On Washington Statesmanship.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Next time Senator Root makes a speech in the Senate in warm weather it is safe to say that he will wear suspenders.

When he was making his great argument in support of the administration plan for a tax on the earnings of corporations it was evident to the least observant that he had something else on his mind besides the intricacies of the law that he was expounding, and the question of the comparative merits and demerits of the income tax.

The Senate Chamber, shut off from the direct effect of such breezes as might have been fanning the Capitol, had a temperature of 88 degrees. Every Senator was using a big palm-leaf fan—except the orator. He was too busy.

Mr. Root is a tall, slenderly-built man without any of those avoirdupoidal prominences which sometimes help in an emergency. He's rather straight up and down. He was attired in a thin blue serge suit, with a negligee shirt of blue, and a belt. That belt needs another hole punched in it.

Starting his remarks in a cool, calm, and dispassionate manner, and in a voice a little too thin to be very effective, Mr. Root soon became warmed up to his subject. As he proceeded his voice became full and round, his gestures animated and forceful, and he walked to and fro across the center aisle and turned first to the Republican side and then to the Democratic side to direct home his rapier-like thrusts of argument. Naturally, in such a temperature, and under such exertions, he was soon perspiring freely.

Then, suddenly, a worried expression flitted across his countenance that was not caused by the interruptions of Senators Bailey or Cummins or any of the others whose position he was attacking. His hands went down to where the recalcitrant belt was neglecting its duty. "He's losing 'em, he's losing 'em," remarked several interested observers under their breath. But no. With a good strong pull they were hoisted into position again and the flow of oratory went on.

But from that time on, until the conclusion of the speech, Mr. Root was busy alternately yanking up his trousers by the tops, or hoisting them by the pockets, and mopping the perspiration from his face.

But it was a great speech, despite embarrassments.

The famous Roosevelt tennis court in the rear of the White House office building is now a hole. Excavators with a plow and shovel went at it ruthlessly the other day and now it looks like a cellar.

Where once the members of the Tennis Cabinet met to decide momentous world affairs will soon rise the foundation and walls of the office building's extension. Mr. Taft does not care for tennis, and as soon as he entered upon his duties at the White House, decided that the space occupied by the court could be put to better use by constructing upon it a much-needed addition to the office building. The present structure, a one-story monstrosity of painted brick which cost the Government $57,000 and could be duplicated by another for $17,000, is entirely too small to accommodate the President and his clerical force and the crowds of visitors that daily call to see the Executive.

The new portion of the building will be occupied by the stenographers and clerks and Secretary Carpenter. The Secretary's present office will be converted into a special waiting room for Senators and Representatives. Under the present arrangement the waiting statesmen are shown into the Cabinet room. Often the crowd is so large that the Cabinet room overflows, and the men who make the laws are compelled to rub elbows with the plain people in the outer ante room. Of course none of them would admit for a moment that he is not tickled to death to do this, but the idea of giving them a waiting room all to themselves has made a great "hit" with the Senators and Representatives.

The addition to the office building will cost $10,000. During the summer the White House proper will be renovated throughout at a cost of about $15,000.

The Senate Committee on Library is in a great quandary. The trouble arises over the marble bust of Theodore Roosevelt, whose effigy, as a former Vice-President of the United States, is entitled to a niche in the Senate Chamber. The sculptor, James L. Frazier, of New York, to whom the work was entrusted of producing the bust, complicated matters by making two. One of these represents the ex-President as the calm, reposeful, thoughtful Roosevelt. The other depicts him with fierce eye, protruding jaw, and tense facial muscles. The question is as to which of these busts to accept.

Some seem to think that the Senate would feel more at home if the strenuous Roosevelt should be looking down upon the body. But Roosevelt himself has expressed a preference for the effigy of his more reposed self. While the Senate Committee realizes that perhaps the ex-President, and ex-Vice-President, has some right to express a preference as to which bust shall endure as the marble embodiment of his features, it realizes that the Senate also has some rights in the matter.

Just what will be done has not yet been determined but a meeting of the committees will be called in the near future to say which one of Sculptor Frazier's productions shall be added to the group of Vice-Presidential busts which now decorate the Senate Chamber and corridors of that end of the Capitol and which represent the Vice-Presidents from John Adams down.

A plan by which the railroads of the country are to take part in the conservation movement is on foot. The plan is the outgrowth of conferences and correspondence between representatives of leading railroads and the Joint Committee on Conservation, in this city.

The preliminary negotiations on the part of the railroads have been carried on by representatives of the American Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way Association. Attention was also given the subject of conservation at the recent meeting of the American Railway Master Mechanics' Association, at Atlantic City. The enormous amount of timber and iron used by the railroads, as well as the great amount of coal consumed by them, make the proposed plan one of greatest magnitude. For instance, President Vaughn, of the American Railway Master Mechanics' Association, says that every year the railroads burn 200,000,000 tons of coal.

The plan is now agreed on between the Conservation Committee and the railroads provide a systematic arrangement by which the Joint Committee is to give the railroads suggestions as to how the various railway systems can put conservation policies into effect. The association on its part undertakes to have the railroads take active steps toward carrying out these suggestions.

The conservation authorities have already submitted a conservation plan. This outline is now in the hands of A. S. Baldwin, Chief Engineer, Illinois Central Railroad Company, Chairman of the Conservation Committee of the American Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way Association, who in a letter to the Committee says:

"On account of the wide areas traversed by the railroads and the great consumption by them of timber and fuel, with their enormous use of iron and steel products, it is believed that the most effectual assistance can be in directing the attention of railroad officials to the excessive wastefulness in the present methods of production of timber and fuel, and the great importance of introducting economies in their use and consumption; also to the importance of economizing in the use of iron and steel products and the possibilities of preservation by protective coatings and otherwise."

With this end in view, the Railroad Conservation Committee has asked for specific suggestions as to the best methods that should be used by the railroads in the prevention and control of forest fires. The Conservation Committee has presented an outline for this work, and with it a statement showing the enormous loss of timber through forest fires every year.

Busy now emptying the shelves for the coming Fall business. Expect to do business and lots of it in these warm Summer months. Goods here at prices that will bring this business to this store. You will find it a comfortable store these days, light and airy and cool and you'll appreciate the comfort that this rest room provides for you.

Parasols Reduced

Lets end this Parasol selling and do it at once. You know how many pretty ones we have here. They are all marked in plain figures and we'll cut these prices in half Wednesday morning. Your chance if you want a Parasol at a bargain price.

Children's Dresses Reduced.

Notice these we have in the widow at ¼ less than the original prices. Dresses that you'll be satisfied with the style and the making and the material, better still you'll be satisfied with these prices. You can't afford to make them yourself when you can buy them at these prices.

Shirt Waists at $1.00 Each.

Notice these on the table in the Cloak Room. Some sold for $1.50 and some for $1.25. We've marked them all a dollar and you will find nearly every size in each style.

Muslin Underwear Reduced.

Two tables of garments. Every garment marked so you can see and judge for yourself whether it's a bargain for you. Commencing with children's drawers at 15c. Infants' slips at 25c. Ladies' drawers at 25c and 50 on through these bargains. You'll find every garment well made and from good muslin. Better muslin Underwear bargains were never before shown in this store.

Your Vacation Suit.

Suppose that you could buy a suit that was just the kind of suit that you wanted. A suit that sold for from $25.00 to $35. If you could buy a suit like that for $10 or $15 it would give you that much more to spend for pleasure while you were on your vacation. We have some suits such as these, suits that we want to close out and have marked at these prices. Not too many but enough to be reasonably certain in saying you can find the kind of suit you want among them.

A Comfortable Porch.

Have you fixed up your porch so that you can get all the comfort possible out of it this Summer? We have Waite grass carpet in yard, and yard and a half, and two yard widths, bound on the edges so that you can make a rug any desirable length. Also Vudor Shades in almost all widths in every staple color. It won't cost you very much to make your porch very comfortable for the next few months.

Remnant Table.

Full of bargains these days. Every piece ticketed with the length and the price. Want you to judge for yourself how much of a bargain each piece is. Worth your while to at least look over these tables these days.

SUTTON BOYD INVESTIGATING.

Scottdale Man Now Prosecuting Attorney Takes Hand In Mystery.

IS OVER IN WEST VIRGINIA

Rev. Dr. Crissman Comes Back to Place Where He Did Early Preaching—School Board Using Whitewash on School Yard Trees.

SCOTTDALE, July 10.—Prosecuting Attorney T. Sutton Boyd, a Scottdale man, now of Morgantown, W. Va., has come to Mooresville, near the Pennsylvania State line, to investigate the death of John L. Eddy, whose body, with a terrible gunshot wound, was found near his home Thursday night. The Coroner's jury rendered a verdict of suicide, but as there was no motive established for the act and Mr. Eddy being a wealthy and apparantly happy farmer, Mr. Boyd decided that it was a matter for him to interest himself in.

A double barrelled shot gun was found alongside of the body. To the triggers were tied pieces of shoe strings. It was established that a man might shoot himself with such adjustment of strings to triggers, but the location of the wounds on the man's body made it clear that he would have to be in a kneeling position to accomplish his own destruction in the manner described.

There was a large pool of blood some 15 feet away from the body, and of the things that make the murder theory tenable is the fact that it would be practically impossible for a man to walk that far after receiving two such heavy charges of shot.

Henry Hall Pushing Work.

Henry Hall & Company, the contractors from Homestead, who are paving Market stret from Broadway to Grove, and who are going to pave the latter street over to Pittsburg street, are pushing the work, and have the ash bed laid on the lower end of Market for the laying of the brick. A sewer drop is being built at the South Side of Market at Broadway, and a new one was built some time ago at the North side of the same street, where history says that 30 years ago Peter C. Campbell was putting up the brick building now standing there. The curb is being put all along the street, and this work will be completed within a short time.

The Base Ball Game.

There has been a lot of interest created in the base ball game this afternoon at Ellsworth park when the Everson team, which is largely a part of the Tyrone Club, will meet the Firemen's team of Scottdale. The result of the game will be the receiving of $50 by the winners, and both parties feel confident that they are going to add to their purses.

The Jacobs Creek Rally.

People are a good deal interested in the rally day services which Rev. Archibald Auld is holding at the Jacobs Creek Methodist Episcopal Church tomorrow evening, when a clever program will be carried out. Rev. George B. Crissman, who recently resigned the Presidency of Beaver College and bought a cottage at Ridgeview Park, on account of Mrs. Crissman's poor health, will be the speaker of the evening. Rev. Dr. Crissman, like many another in the many years past, who has risen to high station in the conference, did his first preaching at Jacobs Creek, and it will be most interesting to have him back there. The Jacobs Creek Church is a beautiful country sanctuary and much filled by both town and country people. It is certain that with pretty weather there will be a very large congregation present tomorrow evening.

Helped Lady in Distress.

John F. Nugent, for a number of years a police officer in Scottdale and now back to his old home town of Mt. Pleasant, where he is acting as a constable, was the party to rescuing a lady from a distressful situation, a young Mrs. Carfelt who, it is reported, was deserted by her husband, who brought their child to Bessemer, to the husband's people. Mrs. Carfelt, accompanied by Constable Nugent, went to the house and got her child and took it to Morgantown, W. Va.

Using the Whitewash.

The School Board has been busy with the whitewash the last several days, closing the naked trunks of the big trees in the Pittsburg street school in garments of pure white in the shape of whitewash. This causes an odd appearance, but it has two benefits, disposing of the insects that attack the trees and preventing the easy and cleanly ascension of boys who have been in the natural habit of climbing the trees, but unfortunately having the inhuman habit of breaking down the branches of the trees.

Seat sale for the Carroll Comedy Company in "A Romance of Tennessee" at the Soisson Theatre, Monday night, July 12 opens today at the theatre. Both phones.

100 Strikebreakers Arrive.

Elwood, Ind., July 10.—One hundred men arrived from New Castle, Pa., to take the places of strikers in the plant of the American Sheet and Tinplate company.

WOMAN TENNIS CHMPION TO BE BRIDE OF A BANKER.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss May Sutton of Pasadena, Cal., the champion woman tennis player of the world, to Harry B. Hall, a banker and capitalist of the City of Mexico. The wedding probably will take place in the early autumn. Miss Sutton won the championship of the world in England in 1906 and repeated the performance the following year. In 1907 she was first in the women's championship at Wimbledon and also first in the mixed doubles at the same place. She has been pronounced by nearly all tennis experts as the most phenomenal and scientific woman player that ever lived. The royalty and aristocracy of England took a great interest in her when she was abroad, showering many trophies and gifts upon her. She has more medals and cups than any other tennis player in the world.

NOTE SHOULD BE PAID.

Trustee Says Cochran Had Knowledge of Encumbered Property.

UNIONTOWN, July 10.—In the effort of W. H. Cochran of Dawson, to secure the cancellation of a note for $1,000 which he gave to J. F. Murphy in part payment in a realty transaction, George P. Christy, trustee in bankruptcy, yesterday filed an answer to the rule granted upon him, through Attorney D. M. Hertzog, in which he asks the court to dismiss the rule. Christy states that the transaction was entered into as stated by Cochran, but avers that there was never any retaking of property in a legal, bona fide way; that Murphy has improved the property he secured from Cochran and that workmen were paid by the trustee.

Christy states that he made an effort to carry out the agreement entered into by the two men and avers that Cochran had knowledge of the lien against the Murphy property. He says that there were also liens against Cochran's property for which he never made any effort to secure releases.

The will of the late Teresa Cuneo of Connellsville, who died May 10, 1908, was admitted to probate yesterday, the entire estate, with the exception of $100 bequest to Chiara Cuneo, a niece, going to a daughter, Victoria Cuneo, and at her death to her children. The will is dated May 9, 1909, and is witnessed by P. Bufano, Lawrence E. Cuneo and Adam Deemer. The estate consists of $2,000 in real estate.

INVEST HEAVILY IN COAL.

Westmoreland Company Takes Up Tracts Adjoining Recent Purchase.

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 10.—The Westmoreland Coal Company of Philadelphia, with offices at Export, this county, closed a deal today with David H. Patterson of Franklin township, this county, for 60 acres of Pittsburg coal. The price paid was $42,060. In 1873 the same company purchased 160 acres of the same bed of coal, paying only $5,750. Mr. Patterson reserved the surface.

The Westmoreland Coal Company within the past few months has purchased large tracts of coal in the vicinity of Export and Delmont, and the company is preparing to build a railroad from Export to point near Delmont.

Poor Directors Lose Case.

SOMERSET, Pa., July 10.—Judge F. J. Kooser yesterday handed down an opinion in the appeal of William Brant, J. F. Reiman and A. F. Swank, former Poor Directors, from the County Auditors' report in which they were surcharged with the sum of $375 paid themselves as "back salary," sustaining the auditors. While the Poor Directors were in office an Act of Assembly increased their salary from $50 to $300 per year and they paid themselves under the new law for services rendered before it became operative.

NEW ROYAL HOTEL IS OPENED TODAY.

A Splendid Place Made Out of the Old Marietta Hotel.

PROPRIETOR SOISSON'S WORK

Has Been Completely Renovated and Practically Made Over, Every Room Having Received Careful Attention. Will Delight Many.

Connellsville's newest, brightest and best hotel opened this morning, in every sense of the word, the new Royal hotel, formerly the Marietta, eclipses all others. It is a real hotel where the hotel features predominate. And with its re-opening comes a new boniface, Augustus D. Soisson, former Burgess of Connellsville, and known as one of its most successful officials.

When Mr. Soisson determined to take active charge of the old Marietta hotel he determined also to make it a real hotel with every comfort that the home provided. How well he succeeded in this will be demonstrated to those who visit the hotel today and who in years to come visit the most famous hostelry of Connellsville.

In this enterprise is associated Rockell Marietta, one of the town's leading citizens, and one who has always been abreast of the times, and who has been a moving spirit in every progressive movement that has been carried out here. Although never an active hotel proprietor, Rockwell Marietta has been identified with the Marietta hotel since the hotel days of the late lamented Quitman Marietta. The old house on the corner was jointly purchased by Rockwell Marietta, Quitman Marietta and Marcus Marietta. Quitman Marietta was essentially and always a hotel man. He ran the little house at the corner where the new Royal hotel now stands through succeeding years until it grew to be a big hostelry even for a little town. Six years ago Rockwell Marietta and A. D. Soisson bought the property rights and the entire ownership. Later it was run by Marietta & McCormick and then Harry Marietta until down to the present day when A. D. Soisson took it over as proprietor. It has always been a noted hotel, even from the days when it was but a small house on the corner.

But it is more notable today than ever, because the new proprietor made betterments essentially in remodelling it so that it is a remarkably fine stopping place and home for those who have to depend upon the public conveniences for their comfort and their resting places. Every room in the new Royal hotel has been made a perfect one. Every room is equipped with the very best furniture, and every room has a solid brass bed with best sleeping arrangements, and most every room in the building has from two to four windows fronting on the outside. There are clothes presses for the homeless, and bath rooms attached to the best rooms. The conveniences are most perfect. Every room has been repainted, repapered, rearranged, new carpets supplied, and the majority of them resemble parlors instead of bedrooms. Local and long distance telephones are on every floor, and it is only a question of a minute to communicate with all centers of the country.

The halls are bright, brilliant, heavily carpeted and are roomy and airy. The kitchen is a compact one, cool and comfortable, clean and neat. More than ordinary care has been taken in the re-arrangement of this department.

But the dining room is one that many a travelling man will marvel over as he takes his meal in it. It is perfectly appointed and really elegant. The walls are hand painted, scintillating with numerous mirrors, the tile floor is bright, and the table service is out of the ordinary. Without doubt it will be the coolest dining room in the whole town, its numerous windows and its elevation on the fourth floor where there is no noise and where the air constantly reaches it, makes it a most desirable location.

The office floor has been greatly remodelled. The cloak rooms have been changed, the telephone lines placed in a more convenient place, but the masterpiece of all is the resting room on the right of the office. This room has been redecorated, and a magnificent green rug placed upon the floor, a veritable home like parlor where gentlemen may meet each other and talk business. It is safe to say that this room will attract many a tired traveller who has business to talk, and who wants to talk it without interruption.

Quite a large number of people called at the hotel this morning and looked over the remodelled hotel. A number of guests were also registered and all were delighted with the new hotel.

A Fatal Mistake.

The twin babies born to Mr. and Mrs. William Snyder, of near New Stanton, a few days before were killed Thursday of last week by being given doses of morphine in mistake for harmless medicine. Coroner McMurray of Westmoreland county, found death was accidental. The parents are grief stricken.

CURED ITCHING PAINFUL HUMOR

Which had Spread Over Face, Body and Arms—Swellings were as Large as a Dollar—When they Broke, Sores would Not Heal—Suffered 3 Years.

MADE SOUND AND WELL BY 3 SETS OF CUTICURA

"My trouble began about three years ago with little black swellings scattered over my face and neck. They would disappear but they would leave little black scars that would itch at times so I couldn't keep from scratching them. Larger swellings would appear in the same place and they were so painful I could hardly bear it and my clothes would stick to the sores. The first doctor I went to said the disease was scrofula, but the trouble only got worse and spread. By this time it was all over my arms and the upper part of my body in big swellings as large as a dollar. It was so painful that I could not bear to lie on my back at night. The second doctor pronounced my disease inflammation of the lymphatic glands. He stopped the swellings, but when they would break the places would not heal. He tried everything that he could but to no effect. He said I might be cured but it would take a long time. I bought a set of the Cuticura Remedies and used them according to directions and in less than a week some of the places were nearly well. I continued with the Cuticura Remedies until I had used three sets, and now I am sound and well. The disease lasted three years from the time it commenced until I was cured. Before Christmas something broke out on my seven year old brother's hands in the form of large sores. I tried everything I could think of but to no effect until I happened to think of Cuticura and one application cured him. Also, not long ago, my sister got a bad burn on her ankle. I have been using Cuticura on that and it gave her scarcely any trouble. O. L. Wilson, Puryear, Tenn., Feb. 8, 1908."

Warm baths with Cuticura Soap, gentle anointings with Cuticura Ointment and mild doses of Cuticura Pills, afford immediate relief and point to a speedy cure of torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin, scalp and blood of infants, children and adults, when all else fails.

Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin. Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass.

CANNON NAMES STANDPATTERS

As Tariff Bill Conferees Over Payne's Protest.

ACTION IS SHARPLY CRITICIZED

Passes Over Senior Members of Ways and Means Committee and Selects Men Who Favor Senate Amendments.

Washington, July 10.—No time was lost by the conferees of the house and senate in getting together to map out the program for putting the finishing touches upon tariff legislation.

Although the differences between the two bodies are represented by 847 amendments, many of them likely to be contested with bitterness, Chairman Aldrich of the senate finance committee and Chairman Payne of the house ways and means committee agree that it may be possible to reach an agreement within ten days.

The manner in which the house conferees were selected by Speaker Cannon is occasioning much criticism in the house and an effort is being made to have President Taft take a part in the threatened controversy.

According to current report, Mr. Payne sought to have the Republican conferees named in order of their seniority as was done in the senate. The speaker chose the conferees himself, ignoring Representatives Hill of Connecticut and Needham of California. Representatives Calderhead of Kansas and Fordney of Michigan, who were named in spite of the fact that they are outranked by Messrs. Hill and Needham, are declared to be "standpatters" of pronounced type.

Cannon Ignores Protest.

Friends of Chairman Payne are authority for the statement that he did not consent to Speaker Cannon's selection until after he had entered a vigorous protest. It is currently reported that the two were engaged in a heated argument over the question before the house assembled. Mr. Payne was powerless to prevent the speaker from selecting such conferees as he chose. After his conference with the speaker he is said to have told a number of his friends that he believed the conferees had been chosen with a view to putting the tariff bill through as speedily as possible along senate lines. By this was meant that the house conferees were expected to acquiesce in the principal increases in rates made by the senate.

As soon as the senate adjourned Mr. Aldrich telephoned to Mr. Payne asking him to get a house conference together and to meet the senate conferees in the finance committee rooms in the senate office building. Senator Aldrich then went to the White House where he had an extended conference with President Taft.

Against Double Taxation.

The president questioned Mr. Aldrich concerning many of the amendments to the tariff bill made by the senate, but it is said that he did not criticize any of the proceedings in that body except the acceptance of an amendment to the corporation tax provision, making it applicable to holding companies. The inference gained by Mr. Taft's callers is that he would not sanction the adoption of an amendment taxing the net earnings of corporations unless the utmost caution is taken to prevent double taxation.

After the conference with the president Mr. Aldrich said that it might be necessary to entirely redraft the corporation tax provision in conference. If this is done, he said, the new provision will be along the lines of that agreed upon at the recent White House conference.

All of the conferees, including the Democratic members, met in the senate office building at the appointed hour. They were in session about an hour when the Democratic members were dismissed. Senator Bailey and Representative Champ Clark walking out together laughingly told a number of waiting newspaper men that they could not expect much help from the Democrats in covering the news of the conference.

"We have been dismissed," said Mr. Bailey, "and we will not be called in again until the majority completes its job of fooling the people."

NEW PRECEDENT SET

Officers of State Institutions Must Eat Same Grub as Inmates.

Topeka, Kan., July 10.—Governor Stubbs believes officers and employes of state institutions should eat the same food they set out for the inmates.

"If the grub is not good enough for the officers and employes," said the governor, "it isn't good enough for growing children and invalids in the institutions."

An order compelling officers and employes to pay for all extras out of their own pockets has been issued. In the past they have been getting all of the delicacies of the season for their own tables at the state's expense.

Reid Gives Gorgeous Blowout.

London, July 10.—Practically all the members of the royal family at present in London were the guests at Dorchester House last evening on the occasion of the dinner and dance given by the American ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid in honor of the king and queen and Princess Victoria.

AEROPLANE SHOW OPENS.

Famous Flying Machines Among the Exhibits in Germany.

Frankfort, Germany, July 10.—Among the exhibits in the great international balloon and aeroplane exposition which opened in this city today and will remain open until October are flying machines as well known as those of the Wright brothers, Count von Zeppelin, Major von Parseval, Count de la Vaulx and others whose recent exploits in navigating the air have held the attention of the entire civilized world.

During the exposition dirigible airships of rigid and nonrigid patterns, aeroplanes and spherical balloons will be seen in flight, and facilities will be offered visitors to make trips in airships, starting from the exhibition grounds. For sixty days during the exhibition there will be races and other competitions of a sporting and military character.

Experiments with aeroplanes will be carried out on a specially prepared velodrome in the grounds. The Zeppelin and Parseval airships will take passengers on excursions along the Rhine. During the races communication will be kept up by means of the exhibition's own wireless telegraph system and carrier pigeons. Numerous prizes have been offered.

The honorary committee of the exhibition includes such prominent aeronauts as Cortlandt F. Bishop, president of the Aero Club of America; Count von Zeppelin, Major Gross, Major von Parseval, Professor Busley, Professor Hergesell, Colonel Schaeck, last year's winner of the international balloon race; Count de la Vaulx, Prince Borghese, Major General Kowanko, chief of the imperial Russian balloon squad, and Captain Amundsen of Stockholm.

CLERMONT LAUNCHED.

Will Have Conspicuous Place in Coming Celebration.

New York, July 10.—With appropriate ceremonies and speeches, the firing of guns and the blowing of whistles and in the presence of a group of prominent citizens the replica of Robert Fulton's steamboat, the Clermont, was launched today at Mariners Island, Staten Island.

The Clermont's sponsor was Mrs. Sutcliffe, granddaughter of Robert Fulton. An address on the historical features of the occasion was delivered by Edward Hagaman Hall, the author and historian, who is assistant secretary of the Hudson-Fulton commission.

The duplicate of the first practicable steamship has been constructed for the purpose of playing a conspicuous part in the coming great celebration at the end of September and the beginning of October of the tercentenary of the discovery of the Hudson river by Henry Hudson and of the centennial of Fulton's epoch making feat of steaming from New York to Albany and back. The Clermont and the replica of the Half Moon, Hudson's vessel, which has been built in Holland, will be central features of the two weeks' celebration. Together they will proceed up the Hudson to receive the acclamation of the throngs that will crowd the banks of the river.

With the Clermont and the Half Moon will be reproductions of other historic vessels, such as the first sailing ferryboat navigated by the early Vanderbilt between Manhattan and Staten Island. The historic vessels will form the nucleus of a splendid naval parade composed in part of warships of this and other nations. The whole will be the most imposing and interesting naval spectacle ever seen in America.

OUTLOOK VERY BRIGHT

Dun's Review of Trade Says Business Is Booming.

New York, July 10.—Dun's Review of Trade says today:

"No one can now question the substantial character of the revival in the iron and steel trade which is rapidly rising to high-water mark levels. The output of the principal producers has already reached within a moderate percentage of full capacity and railroads as well as builders in leading branches of construction work are in the market with their orders.

"This wonderful change in a short period in the activity of the greatest manufacturing industry of the country; the bright outlook for the crops, that of corn giving promise of an unprecedented yield; the cheapness of money, and the fact that the tariff bill has been passed by the senate; these are the conspicuous features of the business situation. Naturally they serve to strengthen the new-born confidence and to encourage new enterprises. The maintenance of trade revival is all the more remarkable because this is the usual season of crop uncertainty and midsummer mercantile dullness."

OFF FOR Y. M. C. A. MEET

Main Body of American Delegates Sails From New York.

New York, July 10.—On the steamer Kroonland, sailing today for Dover and Antwerp, is the main party of American delegates to the world's conference of Young Men's Christian associations, which is to be held in Barmen-Elberfeld, Germany, from July 28 to Aug. 2.

There will be many American delegates to the conference, at which the work of the associations in many lands will be discussed. The work has made rapid advances in Germany, which now has the largest number of separate associations, although it is still far behind the United States in total membership and value of property possessed by the associations.

JOHN D. GIVES TEN MILLIONS

As Additional Endowment to General Education Board.

MAKES TOTAL $52,000,000

Which Oil King Has Contributed To Fund For Assistance of Small Colleges—He Also Removes Restrictions For Future.

New York, July 10.—John D. Rockefeller has increased his donations to the general education board by a gift of $10,000,000 and has also released the board from the obligation to hold in perpetuity the funds contributed by him. The gift, announced by Frederick T. Gates, chairman of the board, brings Mr. Rockefeller's donations to the general education board to $52,000,000.

In acknowledging Mr. Rockefeller's gift the board sent him the following letter:

"The general education board acknowledges the receipt of the communication from Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., stating your purpose, on or before Aug. 1, 1909, to add to the permanent endowment of the board an additional sum of $10,000,000.

"The board accepts with gratitude this new proof of your generosity, your zeal for an educated citizenship in this democracy, and your confidence, and will endeavor to use the gift with large mindedness and good sense to the end that the interests of society in the republic may be increasingly benefited by this great foundation."

The board also took action upon the vacancy caused by the death of Morris K. Jesup and elected Edgar L. Marston as his successor.

Since the receipt of its foundation for higher education in 1905 the general education board has subscribed to the colleges of this country $3,937,500. The colleges to which these subscriptions have been made are to raise supplemental sums amounting to $14,037,500. When these agreements have been completed the total addition to collegiate endowments in this country through the agency of the board and the friends of the colleges will be $17,075,000.

Thus far but one institution has failed to raise the supplemental amount required by the terms of the board's pledge.

CALLER DENOUNCED

By Girl in Hospital as One Who Brutally Abused Her.

Lexington, Ky., July 10.—Mrs. Kate Phipps has been arrested charged with disfiguring Mary Ryan, a girl who was mysteriously attacked in a stable last Tuesday.

Mrs. Phipps is a neighbor of the girl and had called frequently to inquire about her. Today Miss Ryan was in her right senses when Mrs. Phipps called. On sight of Mrs. Phipps the girl screamed and became hysterical. Miss Ryan declared that the woman who attacked her said as she made the onslaught:

"If I can't have rosy cheeks you can't. Everybody likes you; nobody likes me." She then threw carbolic acid in her face and cut her with a knife on the cheeks and hands.

PEACH-BASKET HEADPIECE

Was Aim of William Tell, Who Fatally Wounds Cousin.

New York, July 10.—"If you put that peachbasket hat on I'll shoot it off just like William Tell," said John Clark to his cousin, Mrs. Mary Foreman, ago thirty-three, after she proudly exhibited a new headpiece. Mrs. Foreman, perching the hat on her head, shouted:

"Now shoot it off!"

Clark leveled the gun and pulled the trigger. There was a report and Mrs. Foreman fell to the floor with a probably fatal wound in the head.

Clark, who is twenty-seven years old, was grief stricken and said that he did not know the revolver was loaded.

SLEUTHS ON THE HUNT

Of Thieves Who Stole $500,000 Worth of Jewels in London.

New York, July 10.—In a search for thieves who engineered a $500,000 jewelry robbery in London a week ago New York detectives boarded the liner Mauretania, but no arrests resulted. Other incoming boats will be subjected to a similar search.

A Paris jeweler named Goldschmidt was held up and robbed in the lavatory of a Regent street restaurant. The thieves, it is believed, are well known continental experts. They are supposed to have started for America to market the gems.

Thieves Connect With $25,000.

Vienna, July 10.—The postoffice in the center of the city was robbed of $25,000. While an official was called to the telephone, probably as a ruse, the thieves reached across the counter and abstracted gold notes to that amount.

Widow and Six Children Left.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 10. — John Gilligallon, ago forty-five, a miner, was killed by a fall of rock in the Red Ash vein of Avondale colliery. He is survived by a widow and six children.

HEAD OF INDIAN BUREAU TO PROBE CARLISLE SCHOOL.

The United States Bureau of Indian Affairs has been called upon to investigate serious charges of the mistreatment of students at the Indian school at Carlisle, Pa. The charges are made by James R. Wheelock, a graduate of the institution, who conducts an Indian band, and his contention is that two young men who wished to join his band were placed in the guard house and fed on bread and water. Mosos Friedman, superintendent of the institution, declares that the complaint is greatly exaggerated and courts an investigation, which Commissioner Valentine of the Bureau of Indian Affairs probably will order at once.

OUR MARKSMEN ABROAD

German American Riflemen at Schuetzenfest in Hamburg.

Hamburg, Germany, July 10.—After a triumphal tour of the cities of Germany the American delegates to the great national schuetzenfest, or rifle shooting contest, arrived here. They will take part in the parade that will inaugurate the rifle matches and later compete in the matches for the kaiser's trophy and the other prizes.

In addition to the 200 Americans of German descent there are thousands of marksmen here from all parts of the empire. The coming contest will be the sixteenth annual affair of the sort held in various German cities. Rifle shooting is a recognized sport in Germany, being encouraged by the imperial government and by the governments of the various kingdoms, grand duchies, duchies, etc., which compose the empire.

The invitation to German Americans to send representatives to the schuetzenfest was extended two years ago and met with a cordial response. The Americans chartered the steamer Main for the round trip, leaving New York May 27. None but members of the schuetzenbund and their families were permitted to sail on the steamer. At the head of the German American riflemen is Captain Henry von Mluden of New York. He and his men declare that they have hopes of bringing back to New York the kaiser's trophy, which is valued at $20,000. If they do, a team of German riflemen will visit America next year and try to recapture the trophy.

BURGLAR SMITH SORRY

Offers to Let Victim's Husband Shoot Him to Death.

New York, July 10.—Frank Schmidt, alias John Smith, the wounded burglar, who admits that he killed Mrs. Sophia Staber in her bedroom when he was caught robbing the Staber house at Flatbush, gave the district attorney his version of the moral to be drawn from the murder.

"Mr. Staber and his son are the ones to be blamed for this killing," he said. "They were fools to try to stop such men as us when all we wanted was to make a getaway. If we had been left alone there wouldn't have been no shooting.

"If Mr. Staber will take a gun I will gladly stand up in front of him and let him shoot till I drop dead. That's how much I regret this affair."

Schmidt's pal, Carlo Ciro, alias Metzler, who was silent at first, made a full confession in which he tried to lay all the blame on his mate.

DURHAM'S WILL FILED

Remembers Charles Seger, Trusted Political Lieutenant, and His Lawyer.

Philadelphia, July 10.—The late Israel W. Durham, Republican leader of Philadelphia, who died recently in Atlantic City, left the income of $50,000 to Charles Seger, his friend and chief lieutenant in his political career. The $50,000 will be placed in trust and Seger will receive the income for life.

Durham's legal adviser, Francis Shunk Brown, is given $25,000 outright and the remainder of the estate is left in trust, the income from which is to be shared alike by Durham's two brothers and two sisters. After their death the income will go to their heirs. The estate is valued at $100,000 and upward.

THE CONCILIATION BOARD'S SUCCESS.

Agreement Carrying Forward Work Until 1902 Made.

IN EFFECT NINE YEARS THEN

Has Settled Many Disputes and Saved Much Money By Working Arrangements and Rules in Effect to Govern Employers and Employes.

To those who have been close students of the labor situation in the anthracite coal fields, one of the most significant features of the new agreement between mine workers and operators is the added prestige which it gives the Board of Conciliation. This tribunal has been in existence six years—since the Strike Commission made its award in 1903. When the renewed agreement has expired, the Board will have rounded out nine full years of service.

Its function has been to settle complaints made by either employes or employers. Often the six members decide in favor of the men or in favor of the companies, with little or no difference of opinion. Sometimes there is a tie vote and the case is referred to an umpire.

In any event strikes are forbidden under the agreement; if the mine workers at any colliery have "walked out," they must go back to work before their grievance will be considered by the Board. In its practical aspects, this is one of the most important results of the whole system, for it has done away with numerous petty strikes which were so damaging to the interests of both the men and their employers.

At first the Board was in the nature of an experiment. At the end of its first three years, however, the principle of conciliation had established itself so firmly that there was no question but that the scheme would be continued in its essential features. The only question was as to some of the details. It was finally agreed, in 1906, to continue the Board just as it was first formed; now the same arrangement has been made for the next three years—until March 31, 1912.

The members of the Board representing the mine workers are John Fahy, of Shamokin, representing the southern district; John J. Waters, of Hazleton, representing the middle district; and Adam Ryscavage, of Scranton, representing the northern district. All these are officers of the United Mine Workers of America.

The operators' representatives are W. J. Richards, Vice President and General Manager of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company, of Pottsville; S. D. Warriner, Vice President and General Manager of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, of Wilkes-Barre; and W. L. Connell, an independent operator of Scranton.

All kinds of questions that arise in the complicated industry of anthracite mining come before the Board for settlement. The price of coal purchased by employes, the method of employing "check weighmen" and "checking docking bosses," increases in pay under the Strike Commission's award, the refusal of employers to re-employ their former employees, alleged discrimination in favor of or against union or non-union mine workers; these are a few examples of the sort of questions the board has to pass upon.

As provided by the Commission's award, the Conciliation Board is composed of three representatives of the mine workers and three representatives of the operators. It examines witnesses, and hears the arguments of both sides. When a decision is not reached the case under consideration is referred to an umpire appointed by one of the judges of the third Judicial Court of the United States.

Every employe who believes that he has been unjustly treated, and who has failed in his efforts to have the case settled by the officials of the company at the colliery where he is employed, has the privilege of appealing to the Board for an adjustment. If his grievance is sustained he receives whatever advantage is due him by reason of the Board's decision. If it is not sustained, he remains at work.

NEWELL TO BECOME INDUSTRIAL CENTER

Plans For Town Across River From California Include Railroad Shops, Chemical Works and Furnaces.

Newell, the new industrial town across the river from California is to become the scene of activities the like of which have not been witnessed in the Monongahela valley for some years. Not long ago it was stated that the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad would establish shops there for the manufacture of rails and now and now comes the news that the General Electric Company is to place chemical works there for the manufacture of chemicals used in producing steel. Not only that but it is stated that the Pittsburg Steel Company has secured an option on the Lilly and the Dixon farms, about two miles back of Newell, this land connecting on both the north and the south with the river.

The General Electric Company it is stated would require not less than 23 acres for their plant, and the number of men employed would vary from 200 to 1,800 probably reaching the latter when running full.

The probability for the establishing of the chemical plant at Newell, although not officially made known to the public, is such that Superintendent Riley of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie, Monongahela division, has given the road supervisor orders for the laying of switches at this point.

At the present time there are nightly 10 crews of the P. & L. E. lying over at Newell, or a total of 60 men. Formerly these crews were divided between Newell and McKees Rocks. This is regarded as the first move towards the establishing of P. & L. E. shops at Newell.

ROADS MUST CARRY ALL COAL AT SAME RATES

Important Decisions To Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia Rendered by Inter-State Commission.

A ruling was made at Washington, D. C., this week by the Inter-State Commerce Commission that one carrier shipping fuel, material or other supplies over the lines of another carrier must pay the legal tariff rates applicable to the same commodities shipped between the same points by an individual. Preferential rates will be considered evidence of the unreasonableness of higher rates for other shippers.

The case was that of the Hitchman Coal & Coke Company against the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and others, in which the Hitchman company asked to be included in the freight group on the west side of the Ohio river, although its plant is in West Virginia. This request, in the opinion of the commission, "would in all probability involve all the rate adjustments from the bituminous coal fields in the States of Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia."

That it is not discrimination by the railroads against Philadelphia to allow New York longer "free time" for unloading flour, was the decision of the commission in the complaint of the Commercial Exchange of Philadelphia. It was held that as railroad competition exists in New York that does not exist in Philadelphia, such competition justifies a "long free time" for New York. The commission further held that if the railroads in Philadelphia voluntarily extend the "free time" in that city they must treat alike all points similarly situated, and as a note of warning the commission adds that "there might arise a duty to extend the benefit to every other non-competitive point."

RAILROADS AND MILEAGE.

A Remarkable Steadiness in Building During Past 10 Years.

Poor's Manual is out in its forty-second annual number covering the fiscal year of 1908 of the railroads, this being, generally speaking, the year ending June 30, 1908, while some of the statistics, such as those of railroad mileage, are brought to December 31, 1908.

The total liabilities of 224,382 miles of railroad in 1907 were $18,049,280,250 and of 230,035 miles in 1908, $19,475,365,559, the profits and loss in 1907 being $90,407,813, and in 1908 $105,777,406.

The mileage of railroad in operation at the close of calendar years has been as follows:

1830	23	1901	198,743
1840	2,818	1902	202,688
1850	9,021	1903	207,335
1860	30,626	1904	212,304
1870	52,922	1905	217,341
1880	93,262	1906	222,706
1890	166,703	1907	228,128
1900	194,262	1908	232,046

In the 10 years following 1898 there has been a remarkable steadiness in railroad building, the annual increase in mileage averaging 4,524 miles, but the building of 4,500 miles of new railroad is not significant to the iron and steel industry in present magnitude.

While the statistics cover chiefly the fiscal years ending June 30, one would naturally expect them to show a great decrease in freight and passenger movement in 1908, as the panic month was the fourth month in the fiscal year 1908. The traffic statistics, tons carried one mile for freight, and passengers carried one mile for passenger, are as follows:

	Freight Movement.	Passenger Movement.
1905 ...	187,376,021,537	23,000,420,603
1906 ...	210,053,705,000	25,842,402,020
1907 ...	233,117,507,807	28,108,116,577
1908 ...	217,608,911,330	23,085,070,149

Of course, on account of the increase in railroad mileage the movement per mile of road fell off more than the total movement but still the falling off was not so great. The number of ton-miles of freight per mile of railroad was 6,694 in 1908 against 7,675 in 1907, and 6,681 in 1905, so that 1908 beat 1905 by a slight margin, although 1905 was an active year. The number of passenger miles per mile of road increased each year after 1904, even 1908 showing an increase over the preceding year.

France Heads New Movement.

Paris, July 10. — The chamber of deputies by a vote of 548 to 11 adopted the motion introduced by the Socialist leader, Jean Jaures, to invite the government to call an international conference of all the powers for the purpose of securing the gradual and simultaneous reduction of customs tariffs.

SCENES AND NOTABLES AT CELEBRATION OF THE DISCOVERY OF LAKE CHAMPLAIN.

Three nations joined in the tercentenary celebration around Lake Champlain. President Taft, easily the star of the big event, represented the United States, Ambassador Jusserand represented France, and Ambassador Bryce spoke for Great Britain. In all the speeches there were flattering exchanges of compliments. Canada was represented by Postmaster General Lemieux.

CHAPTER XVIII.

NEENAH.

"SELIM'S wife, Neenah, saved my life." It was the next morning, and Chase was relating his experiences to an eager, marveling company in the breakfast room. "She has a sister whose husband was one of the leaders in the attack. Neenah told Selim, and Selim told me. That's all. Days ago Selim and I cached the rope at the top of the cliff, anticipating just such an emergency as this and intending to use it if we could reach the chateau in no other way. I figured that they would cut off all other means of getting into your grounds.

"Neenah came up from the village ahead of the attacking party, out of breath and terribly frightened. We didn't waste a second, let me tell you. Grabbing up our guns, we got out through the rear and made a dash across the stable yard. It was near midnight. The servants, all of whom were up and ready to join in the fight, attempted to head us off. We had a merry little touch of real warfare just back of the stables. It was as dark as pitch, and I don't believe we hit anybody. But it was lively scrambling for a minute or two, let me tell you."

Deppingham's big blue eyes were fairly snapping. His wife put her hand on his shoulder with an impulse strange to her, and Genevra saw a light blaze in her eyes. "I hope you potted a few of 'em. Serve 'em jolly well right if"—

"Selim says he stumbled over something that groaned as we were racing for the back road. I was looking out for Neenah." He glanced involuntarily from Lady Agnes to the princess, a touch of confusion suddenly assailing him. "Selim covered the retreat," he added hastily. "Instead of keeping the road we turned up the embankment and struck into the forest. Dropping down behind the bushes, we watched those devils from the town race pell-mell, howling and shooting, down the chateau road. There must have been a hundred of 'em. Five minutes later the bungalow was afire. It was as bright as day, and I had no trouble in recognizing Rasula in the crowd. Selim led the way, and I followed with Neenah. Hang it all, Browne, I didn't have time to save that case of cigarettes. I'm out nearly a hundred boxes."

"You might have saved the cigarettes if you hadn't been so occupied in saving the fair Neenah," said her ladyship, with a provoking smile.

"Alas, I thought of that also, but too late! Still, virtue was its own reward. Imagine my delight when we stopped to rest to have Neenah divide her own little store of Turkish cigarettes with me. We had a bully smoke up there in the wood."

"Selim, too?" asked Browne casually.

"Oh, no! Selim was exploring," said Chase easily.

"Neenah is very beautiful," ventured Lady Agnes.

"She is exquisite," replied Chase, with the utmost sang froid. "Selim bought her last winter for a ten carat

"They will dispose of us wholesale, not by the piece."

ruby and a pint of sapphires."

"That explains her overwhelming love for Selim," said the princess quietly. Chase looked into her eyes for a moment and smiled inwardly.

"We finally got to the edge of the cliff and unearthed the rope, which we already had fastened to the trunk of a tree. I was obliged to carry Neenah for the last quarter of a mile, poor little girl. She was tied to my back, leaving my throat and chest free, and down we came. Simplest thing in the world. Presto! Here am I with my happy family at my heels."

"Well, we can't sit here and dawdle all day!" exclaimed Deppingham. "We must be moving about—arrange our batteries and all that, don't you know. We've got to stave these devils off for two or three weeks at least, and we'll have to look sharp. Browne, that's the third cup of coffee you've had. Come along! This isn't Boston."

As they left the breakfast room Chase stepped to Genevra's side and walked with her. At the foot of the stairs, where they were to part, she extended her hand, a bright smile in her eyes.

"You were and are very brave and good," she said. He withheld his hand, and she dropped hers, hurt and strangely vexed. "Don't you care for my approval, or do you"—

"You forget, princess, that my hands are still suffering from the bravery you would laud," he said, holding them resolutely behind his back.

"Oh, I remember!" she cried in quick comprehension. "They were cut and bruised by the rope. How thoughtless of me! What are you doing for them? Come, Mr. Chase, may I not dress them for you? I am capable—I am not afraid of wounds. We have had many of them in our family, and fatal ones too." She was eager now and earnest.

He shook his head with a smile on his lips. "I thank you. They are better, much better, and they have been quite properly bandaged already."

"Neenah?"

"Yes," he replied gently. She seemed to search his mind with a quick, intense look into his eyes. Then she smiled and said, "I'll promise not to bruise the wounds if you'll only be so good as to shake hands with me."

He took her slender hand in his broad, white swathed palm and pressed it fervently regardless of the pain which would have caused him to cringe if engaged in any other pursuit.

There was no longer any doubt as to the intentions of the disappointed islanders. Von Blitz and Rasula had convinced them that their cause was seriously jeopardized. They were made to see the necessity for permanently removing the white pretenders from their path.

Deppingham, on account of his one time position in the British army, was chosen chief officer of the beleaguered "citadel." A strict espionage was set upon the native servants despite Bailo's assurances of loyalty. Lookouts were posted in the towers, and a ceaseless watch was to be kept day and night. Chase on his first visit to the west tower discovered a long unused searchlight of powerful dimensions. Fortunately for the besieged, the electric light plant was located in the chateau grounds and could not be tampered with from the outside.

Britt was put in charge of the night patrol, Saunders the day. Selim under orders had severed the long rope with a single rifle shot. No one could hope to reach the chateau by way of the cliff.

Extra precautions were taken to guard the women from attacks from the inside. The window bars were locked securely, and heavy bolts were placed on the doors leading to the lower regions. It was now only too apparent that Skaggs and Wyckholme had wrought well in anticipation of a rebellion by the native shareholders. Each window had its adjustable grates; every outer door was protected by heavy iron gates.

By nightfall Deppingham's forces were in full possession of every advantage that their position afforded.

Chase came from his room, still stiff and sore, but with fresh, white bandages on his blistered hands. He asked and received permission to light a cigarette and then dropped wearily into a seat near the princess, who sat upon the stone railing. Her trim, graceful figure was outlined against the darkness. A delicate, sensuous fragrance exhaled from her person, filling him with an indescribable delight and languor; the spell of her beauty was upon him, and he felt the leap of his blood.

"If I were you," he said at last, reluctant to despoil the picture, "I wouldn't sit up there. It would be a very simple matter for one of our friends to pick you off with a shot from below. Please let me pull up a chair for you."

She smiled languidly, without a trace of uneasiness in her manner.

"Dear officer of the day, do you think they are so foolish as to pick us off in particles? Not at all. They will dispose of us wholesale, not by the piece. By the way, has Neenah been made quite comfortable?"

"I believe so. She and Selim have the room beyond mine, thanks to Lady Deppingham."

"Agnes tells me that she is very interesting—quite like a princess out of a fairy book. You recall the princesses who were always being captured by ogres and evil princes and afterward satisfactorily rescued by those dear knights admirable? Did Selim steal her in the beginning?"

"You forget the pot of sapphires and the big ruby."

"They say that princesses can be bought very cheaply."

"Depends entirely upon the quality of princess you desire. It's very much like buying rare gems or old paintings, I'd say. Speaking of princesses and ogres, has it occurred to you that you would bring a fortune in the market?"

"Mr. Chase!"

"You know, it's barely possible that you may be put in a matrimonial shop window if Von Blitz and his friends should capture you alive. Ever think of that?"

"Good heavens! You—why, what a horrible thing to say!"

"You won't bring as much in the south sea market as you would in Rapp-Thorberg or Paris, but I dare say you could be sold for"—

"Please, Mr. Chase, don't suggest anything so atrocious," she cried, something like terror in her voice.

"Neenah's father sold her for a handful of gems," said he, with distinct meaning in his voice. She was silent, and he went on after a moment. "Is there so much difference, after all, where one is sold, just so long as the price is satisfactory to all concerned?"

"You are very unkind, Mr. Chase," she said with quiet dignity. "I do not deserve your sarcasm."

"I humbly plead for forgiveness," he said, suddenly contrite. "It was beastly."

"American wit, I imagine you call it," she said scornfully. "I don't care to talk with you any longer."

"Won't you forgive me? I'm a poor brute—don't lash me. In two or three weeks I'll step down and out of your life; that will be penalty enough, don't you think?"

"For whom?" she asked in a voice so low that he could scarcely hear the words. Then she laughed ironically. "I do forgive. It is all that a prince or a princess is ever asked to do, I'm beginning to believe. I also forgive you for coming into my life."

"If I had been a trifle more intelligent I should not have come into it at all," he said. She turned upon him quickly, stung by the remark.

"Is that the way you feel about it?" she asked sharply.

"You don't understand. A man of intelligence would never have kicked Prince Karl. As a matter of fact, in trying to kick Prince Karl out of your life I kicked myself into it. A very simple process, and yet scarcely intellectual. A jackass could have done as much."

"A jackass may kick at a king," she paraphrased casually. "A cat may only look at him. But let us go back to realities. Do you mean to tell me that they—these wretches—would dare to sell me—us, I mean—into the kind of slavery you mention?"

"Why not?" he asked soberly, arising and coming quite close to her side. "You are beautiful. If they should take you alive it would be a very simple matter for any one of these men to purchase you from the others. You might easily be kept on this island for the rest of your days and the world would be none the wiser, or you could be sold into Persia or Arabia or Turkey. I am not surprised that you shudder. Von Blitz and Rasula mean to destroy all of us. We are to disappear from the face of the earth. When our friends come to look for us we will have died from the plague and our bodies will have been burned, as they always are in Japan. There will be no one left to deny the story. After tomorrow no ship is due to put in here for three weeks. They will see to it that none of us get out to that ship, nor will the ship's officers know of our peril. The word will go forth that the plague has come to the island. That is the first step, your highness. But there is one obstacle they have overlooked," he concluded. She looked up inquiringly.

"My warships," he said, the whimsical smile broadening.

He Learned a Lot.

Once a boy thought he would braid a mule's tail. Later, when his father was trying to straighten up his features so that his mother wouldn't have to get acquainted with him all over again, he asked, "Father, will I ever be beautiful any more?"

"No, my child," said the father, as he delicately pried the bridge of the lad's nose into something like its old-time form, "no, my child, you will never be beautiful, but you'll know a danged sight more."

MINING PEOPLE ELECT OFFICERS.

The Monongahela Institute Begins a New and Active Year.

WILL MEET AGAIN IN AUGUST

Are Planning For a Meeting of Particular Interest—Sessions Have Both Social and Professional Program—Committees Also Named.

The Y. M. C. A. Monthly Mining Institute of Monongahela, one of the most active in the country, has elected its officers for the ensuing year, and is making plans for an institute in August, which will be of a very special character. The following are the officers elected: President, Donald Darroch; First Vice President, Charles McVicker; Second Vice President, John C. Rue, and Secretary, W. T. Wertz. At that time the paper on "Explosives," read by George Waugh, will be brought up for discussion.

President Darroch announced the following committees, with power to add to the number:

Membership—Charles McVicker, J. L. Maize, James Holdsworth, Edward Miller, John C. Rue, George Waugh.

Social—W. T. Wertz, Charles McVicker, Jacob Jones, John G. Nelson.

Committee on Papers—Richard Maize, John D. O'Hara and Edward Miller.

The chair also appointed a committee consisting of James L. Maize, Edward Miller and John C. Rue to audit the Treasurer's accounts.

This Institute always has excellent programs of both a popular and technical nature, and a number of the papers read before the Institute have been published in The Weekly Courier. At the last meeting a solo was given by Miss Margery Forsythe, and a piano duet by Misses Agnes Jones and Margaret Brown, all of whom were heartily encored.

The Institute is also considering the plans of holding a picnic sometime during this season, which if held, would be quite a popular event for the members and their friends.

HE WANTS THE WORLD TO KNOW.

GOOD REPORTS ARE COMING IN FROM EVERY DIRECTION.

Many people of Connellsville and vicinity are greatly interested in the new remedy, Root Juice, that is now being demonstrated in Graham & Company's drug store. It is certainly a great medicine if one can judge by the reports that are coming from every direction. A number of local people are claiming that the first dose of the juice made them feel better. During the past few months the remedy has made scores of remarkable cures in many sections of the State and created considerable excitement. Numerous testimonials similar to the following are being received almost daily: "I write this for publication with the hope that it will influence those who suffer as I did to try the great medicine that cured me. The wonderful Root Juice medicine has done so much good for me that I feel it my duty to publish it to the world. I spent a life of misery for years, but thanks to Root Juice I am now free from every ache and pain. I, like many others, was very skeptical when the papers first told of the many hundreds of cures the remedy was making. When the scientist was invited to come here I thought he would be unable to prove all that was claimed for the medicine. However, I was soon convinced, as it did wonders for several of my neighbors. At the time I felt that every organ of my body was nearly worn out. My liver was torpid, my kidneys were weak and my stomach was in a horrible condition; at times it felt like it had rocks in it, a great deal of gas formed and I bloated fearfully. I had dizzy weak spells frequently and was badly constipated. My appetite was very poor and even in hot weather my hands and feet were often cold. I was using some kind of medicine most of the time without much benefit, but after using Root Juice a few days I began to improve. I have used hardly six bottles, but am feeling better than I have for twenty years and firmly believe that I am permanently cured."—O. H. Cummings, R. R. No. 4, Lafayette, Ind. The people at Graham & Company's drug store are very pleasant in giving information in relation to the remedy. It is sold for $1 a bottle or three bottles for $2.50.

New Branch.

Work on the new Winding Gulf branch of the Virginian Railway is progressing at a rapid rate, and before the end of the summer season it is expected that the branch will have been entirely completed.

The new road is to be 26 miles long and when complete will extend from a point on the Virginian main line into Wyoming county, West Virginia, where new and valuable coal fields are to be tapped.

ROUTE OF GLIDDEN AUTOMOBILE TOUR; DETROIT TROPHY AND SCENES ALONG WAY.

The sixth annual tour of the American Automobile Association, which includes the contests for the Glidden, Hower and Detroit trophies, will start from Detroit on July 12. About 50 cars will participate. The tour this year seems assured of being the most interesting and important of any yet held, as it is the most arduous that has been projected. The distance is a thousand miles more than any previous contest for the Glidden trophy and the rules much more exacting. In previous years the Glidden trophy has been won on tours through the eastern States, but now the cars are to have a drive of nearly 1,000 miles westward from Detroit to Denver and then 750 miles back to Kansas City, where the tour will disband. The itinerary, giving the names of the places where the overnight stops will be made, is as follows:

July 12—Detroit to Kalamazoo	Mich.	142 3
13—Kalamazoo to Chicago		173 3
14—Chicago to Madison,	Wis.	173 2
15—Madison to Lacrosse,	Wis.	154.4
16—Lacrosse to Minneapolis,	Minn.	177.8
17-18—At Minneapolis.

20—Mankato to Fort Dodge,	Iowa.	138 6
21—Fort Dodge to Council Bluffs,	Ia	181
22—Council Bluffs to Kearney	Neb.	200 2
23—Kearney to Julesburg,	Colo	206 2
24—Julesburg to Denver..		204 8
25-26—At Denver.
27—Denver to Hugo, Colo..		173 5
28—Hugo to Oakley, Kan..		185
29—Oakley to Salina, Kan		190 7
30—Salina to Kansas City,	Mo.	212 8
Total miles		2,636 8

The accompanying map shows the entire route The scenes along the route were taken when the pathfinder car laid out the way some weeks ago The cup in this group of pictures is the one offered by the city of Detroit.

The Cokers may be somewhat crippled and otherwise under the weather but that didn't prevent them from hanging the Indian sign on the Fairers were outhit and outplayed, and had a hard time getting their two runs. The Cokers, on the other hand, piled up seven tallies with but little difficulty.

One feature of the game was the right field hitting of the Hunters. Myers was shifted to that side of the field and had seven putouts. On the other hand Calhoun, in left, didn't get a single chance.

The Cokers began scoring in the third inning and kept it up until the seventh. By that time the game was on ice so they decided to take a rest. Cotter pitched grand ball and kept Fairmont's eight hits well scattered. On the other hand, the Cokers hit Hunt when men were on the bases

There was some scrappy fielding and the five errors of the contest were divided between two players O'Malley having Fairmont's four and Ike Francis the only one made by the Cokers The score:

Diamond Doxology.

Is history to repeat "itself? The Cokers were the first team to defeat Fairmont during the first half season and turn a similar trick in the second half. Incidentally, the Hunters are as hard to beat as they ever were, pipe dreams from the County Seat to the contrary, notwithstanding.

Notice how those Grafton youths are batting the ball these days? No team in the league is slamming them out more viciously than the Engineers. They will make things warm for a pitcher or two in this circuit

So the Clarksburg boys struck at last Sorry to see the Moguls in bad for it may bring embarrassing complications later For Clarksburg to drop out would mean another inroad upon the compact circuit originally planned

Hope they settle that schedule proposition pretty quick. Just now everyone is up in the air About the only sure thing is that the Cokers will play in Parkersburg on Sunday and Monday They will hardly return home before the latter part of next week Good luck, kids, were with you still

Just a comment on the Fourth of July games—the league should take this tip Fifty cent ball doesn't pay Were it left with the Coker management, there would be no 50 cent games It was largely through the efforts of Connellsville that the increase was abandoned on Memorial Day and Labor Day The sooner 50 cent ball is legislated out of this circuit the better

Speaking of increased prices, the management here deserves paeons of praise for not lifting the grandstand price to 25 cents as was done elsewhere. It is a general custom to charge all on holidays, even though ladies be admitted free at other times, but in Uniontown and other points 25 cents was charged for the grandstand on July 5

Needless to state Mr George A Fairbaugh will receive the gladsome mitten from the Connellsville fans The aforesaid George A is a friend in need It he will just clout the pill as in days of yore, our cup of joy will splash all over the field

Tis good news that Ben Finley is to get back in harness on Sunday. This lad Makepeace has been playing a nice game behind the bat, far better than he did with the late, lamented Cherubs But for the genuine, simon-pure candy kid behind the muzzle and mattress, that lad Finley is just about IT

After pondering over the wherefores and whiches of those awful clouts lammed out by one D Calhoun some of the fans here may take a tumble and discover that there is some good in Mr D C Never having joined in the anvil chorus against David, we feel gratified that our judgment was not amiss As has been reiterated several times in the dim distant past, Mr Calhoun has the call on several Cokers who are not targets of the anvil trust

This lad Hagan is playing a dead swell game under difficulties. The wee one has bad pins, to speak in the vernacular, and they handicap his navigating ability to a certain extent. But the Kid is game and is playing a dead swell game in the region of third base Incidentally, his little willow is welting a wallop or so.

If those pesky Pirates can scuttle "Big Six" as neatly as Messrs. Ames and Raymond, there will be joy in Smokeville Large tears of delight rolled down sooty cheeks when yesterday's glad tidings were received but only the complete annihilation of Mr Matthewson can assuage the blood thirsty desires of the Pirate followers

This picturesque ball tosser who is best known as Cotter in these woods is some twirler He has a deceptive delivery and a swatless slant which makes the opposing sluggers look like a decrepit dime. When it comes to twirling ball in this circuit that lad Cotter has anything in this league faded Incidentally, there are a few managers in this circuit who are casting covetous eyes in Jack's direction

PIRATES WALLOP GIANTS.

35,000 Fans See Their Pets Beaten Twice.

New York, July 10 — Thirty-five thousand fans rushed to the Polo Grounds to see two games which were regarded as likely to furnish an indication of New York's chances to win the National league pennant this year Outside was a crowd of 10,000 unable to gain admission It was one of the largest crowds ever attracted to a baseball game in New York

But at evening the army of local enthusiasts retreated as hastily as it came, for it had been a most disastrous day. Pittsburg won both games by scores of 9 to 5 and 4 to 2

Maddox and Camnitz pitched the first and Phillippe the second Ames, Marquard and Crandall were put into the box for New York in the first game, but none of the trio proved effective In the second Raymond filled the box for seven innings, when Ames was brought out again but only to allow the visitors another run In neither game was the result in doubt, the locals being completely outplayed

By this double victory and the incidental defeat of Chicago by Philadelphia the Pittsburg team strengthened its commanding lead in the pennant race over Chicago and New York Scores by innings:

CLARKSBURG FORFEITS

Players Refuse To Go On Until Back Salary Is Paid

Clarksburg forfeited to Uniontown yesterday the first forfeited game of the entire season The Clarksburg players claim they have not been paid since June 15 and declined to play until they see some of the golden shekels that are due them

President Gronninger is in Clarksburg using every effort to keep the team intact He has guaranteed the men their salaries but they played two games under protest and finally quit on the third It is expected that the matter will be adjusted before the game with Connellsville this afternoon

Correct Styles, Accurate Tailoring, Minimum Outlay.

$15 and $17 Clothing.

Only about fifty suits in this lot The radical nature of the price lowering being due to the fact that there are no black or blue suits among them and scarcely two suits alike in the lot Of course this fact makes but little difference to you but we cannot afford to carry broken stock These suits are all correct in style Not a thing wrong with them only that they are not regular stock Every size is here in one style or another so you will not be disappointed or that score. They are displayed on a table by themselves to avoid delay Priced at
